GOVERNOR REMOVES ADJUTANT GENERAL FOSTER FROM OFFICE

J. B. Christian, a Watchmaker of Tallahassee, Given the Commission

FOSTER HAD QUALIFIED

Under Primary Law, But Is Removed to Give Place to Boyhood Friend

Tallahassee, Fla., Jan. 10.—J. B. Christian was commissioned adjutant general at 5:30 this afternoon by Governor Catts, and J. C. R. Foster was removed.

Christian is a watchmaker and boarding house keeper here, who was the boyhood friend and college mate at Auburn, Ala., with Catts.

Attorney General, upon request of the governor, gave the opinion that General Foster could be deposed and that a constitutional amendment made two years ago, lobbied for by the general, made the term of office "at the pleasure of the governor."

General Foster qualified as candidate in the primary, was put in by the state committee, made his campaign expense statement and paid the fee, his friends here say, but did not go on the ticket, because he had no opposition, but Catts' friends say the constitutional amendment makes his case different from that of the circuit judges and states attorneys who are appointive but run in the primary.

BITTER FIGHT ON DANIELS

Within Past Seven Months, From All Causes, Report of Chief Surgeon

Washington, Pan. 10.—The senate tonight voted its confirmation of Winthrop M. Daniels to succeed himself as a member of the interstate commerce commission.

The vote was 42 to 15 and was taken after action had been delayed nearly a month.

Contrary to custom, a part of the debate was made public revealing the bitterness of the fight waged against Daniels in executive session.

FLA. POSTMASTERS ARE APPOINTED

(Special to the Herald.)

Washington, Jan. 10.—The president sent to the senate today nominations of the following Florida postmasters: Homer E. Hooks, Clermont; Emma S. Fletcher, Havana; Joseph M. Jones, Vero, and Jesse M. Collins, Webster.

The appointment of Jones was recommended by Congressman Sears before the Christmas holidays.

The other offices are in Congressman Sparkman's and Congressman Clark's districts.

COMMISSION MERCHANTS ARE "NOT GUILTY"

Philadelphia, Pa., Jan. 10.—A denial that they are responsible for the present high prices of food products and a discussion of plans to combat the nation-wide movement to eliminate the middlemen, promise to feature the twenty-fifth annual convention of the National League of Commission Merchants, which assembled in this city today for a three-day session. The convention is attended by prominent representatives of the commission trade from nearly all the large cities of the country.

CODY SEEKS OTHER PLAINS

Famous Scout Dies After a Lingering Illness In His Seventy-First Year

Denver, Jan. 10.—William F. Cody, "Buffalo Bill," died at the home of his sister here, today, after a lingering illness.

William Frederick Cody, the famous scout and showman, better known throughout the world as "Buffalo Bill," was born in Scott county, Iowa, February 26, 1846.

His father was an early pioneer in Kansas and was one of the group which laid out the city of Leavenworth.

At the time when the Kansas free state turmoil kept politics at white heat, and guns and knives were brought to the political meetings, the elder Cody took an active part. One day the old man was stabbed and was taken home in a dying condition.

Young Cody, compelled to earn his own living, hired out to a firm employed by the government in carrying stores across the plains. He visited every military fort and post west of the Missouri River, became a favorite with the rough men of the plains and the soldiery.

He schooled himself on every problem that had to do with the pioneer life.

He was only a boy when he saw his first Indian fighting. He figured in some thrilling experiences with daring bands. When he was sixteen he joined the government scouts in the civil war.

He served in that capacity until the end of the war, with the Seventh Kansas volunteer cavalry. Cody had become a dead shot with the rifle, and after the war he entered into a contract to supply buffalo meat for the gangs that were building the railways in Kansas.

During eighteen months he killed 4,280 buffaloes, and this achievement earned him the name of "Buffalo Bill."

In the spring of 1868, Cody entered the army again and was appointed by Gen. Phil Sheridan chief of scouts for the department of the Missouri and the Platte. He was scout and guide for the Fifth cavalry against the Sioux and Cheyennes. Then he joined the Canadian River expedition, and on

COMMITTEE DID NOTHING

Rules Committee Adjourns—No Final Action On Wood Resolution

Washington, Jan. 10.—After an executive session, today, the rules committee adjourned until tomorrow without final action on the Wood resolution providing an investigation into the alleged leak on the president's peace note, although most of the democratic members favored abandoning the whole thing with an adverse report.

A sub-committee was appointed to draft contempt charges against Thomas W. Lawson for use in case the committee decides to report Lawson for refusal to reveal names.

When the committee adjourned, the re-sending resolution by Representative Campbell of Kansas, a republican, designed to broaden the scope of the present inquiry on the leak to meet Lawson's objections.

Campbell said he wanted to "call Lawson's hand" and there were indications that Campbell's resolution or a similar one would be adopted.

Such action would recall Lawson to the stand.

The present intention of the committee is to hear no more testimony until the question of broadening its scope is settled.

GEORGE ADE COMING SOUTH.

George Ade, the writer of fables and plays, is on his way soutn, presumably to Miami, he having previously visited here. In company with his friend Ortie Wells, Mr. Ade has arrived in Jacksonville. They will go to Belleair for a few days on the golf links before proceeding further south.

ARGUMENT ON ADAMSON LAW

Concluded in Supreme Court and Decision Expected Within Few Weeks

Washington, Jan. 10.—Final argument on the test case of the constitutionality of the Adamson law was heard in the supreme court, today.

The decision is expected within a few weeks, although summary action is not deemed probable. February twenty-sixth has been mentioned as a possible date for the decision.

The closing address for the government was made, today, by Frank Hagerman, who contended vigorously that congress had the right to regulate the salaries of railroad employes.

274 DEATHS AMONG TROOPS

Did Not Prevent Confirmation of Nomination to Succeed Himself

San Antonio, Tex., Jan. 10.—Two hundred and seventy-four deaths occurred in the last seven months among more than 150,000 guardsmen and regulars on the border, according to the report of the chief surgeon of the southern division of the army.

Of these 108 were caused by violence and 166 by disease. Of the violent deaths 47 were shot. This includes the men killed at Carrizal and other points in Mexico, and all regulars.

There were 29 accidental deaths, nineteen committed suicide, ten drowned and three had sunstroke. Forty-four died of pneumonia, the largest of any specific disease.

INCREASED APPROPRIATION FOR KISSIMMEE RIVER

(Special to the Herald.)

Washington, Jan. 10.—The appropriation in the rivers and harbors bill for the new project for improving Kissimmee river by deepening and widening it so as to furnish transportation all the year around, was today increased from $43,000 as reported in these dispatches yesterday, tc $47,000 today.

The preparation of the bill will probably be completed and a report made to the house aSturday.

HARRY THAW ESCAPES FROM DETECTIVES

Supposed to Be In Pittsburg Under Protecting Wing of His Family

ACCOMPLICE IS MISSING

Man Arrested As Bodyguard Turns Out to Be Wrong Person

New York, Jan. 10.—The whereabouts of Harry K. Thaw, charged with kidnapping and assaulting Fred Gump, Jr., nineteen years of age, remained a mystery, tonight.

Unofficially, the prosecutor's office expressed the belief that Thaw went to Pittsburg and is there under the protection of his family and is being advised by counsel.

Detectives, who yesterday claimed to be on a "hot trail," of Thaw, explained his escape by saying that he was so well known they turned their attention to the capture of George F. O'Byrnes, said to be Thaw's body guard, and also indicted with him in this case.

The man arrested at Philadelphia as O'Byrnes, turned out to be Oliver Brower, who is also associated with Thaw, but is not under indictment.

O'Byrnes has disappeared, and the police have no description of him except the imperfect one given by young Gump.

POLICE WANT BROWER HELD

But Accomplice of Harry Thaw Gets Bail and Then Disappears

Philadelphia, Jan. 10.—After his release on twelve hundred dollars bail the police received a telegram from New York, requesting them to hold Oliver F. Bower on a charge of conspiracy to kidnap in connection with the indictment against Harry Thaw.

Brower has not been seen since he was released.

Brower had several of Thaw's letters in his pockets when arrested.

One and Two Dollar Notes Issued to Supply Demand

Washington, Jan. 10.—A new issue of one and two dollar treasury notes, the greenbacks of civil war days and discontinued more than thirty years ago, will be put into circulation probably on the first of February, to provide relief for the unprecedented demand for small paper money.

While no greenbacks have been authorized since 1885, this denominational issue will be accomplished by canceling more than one hundred and two million dollars' worth of greenbacks in ten dollar denominations, outstanding, and replacing them by one and two dollar bills.

PICKETS DID NOT RECOGNIZE THE PRESIDENT

Weary Women Carry Banners All Day At White House But Miss Their Prey

Washington, Jan. 10.—Twelve women with suffrage banners stood at the main gates of the White House, today, beginning what the leaders of the Congressional Union call a mildly militant "silent picketing" to force their cause upon the president.

The pickets were on duty from ten in the morning until dark, the fatigued ones being relieved.

The suffragists announced that the picketing would be continued until the inauguration, when the campaign for a federal amendment will close with a suffrage parade.

The president passed the pickets only once, today, and then was not recognized by the women.

CATTS APPOINTS CHRISTIAN HEAD NATIONAL GUARD

INQUIRIES COMING IN

For Space In Dade County's Fair to Be Held February 26 to March 4

Inquiry is already being made for space at the coming Dade County Fair which will be held at Royal Palm Park and in the fair building from February 26 to March 4.

This year's fair will be the greatest that Dade county has ever had aside from being the best mid-winter exposition in the south.

More than $3,000 in cash prizes will be offered while the department exhibits will exceed any previous event in the history of the fair association.

The officers of the association who will manage the exhibit are: J. C. Baile, president; E. A. Waddell, vice-president; J. I. Wilson, treasurer, and E. V. Blackman, secretary.

Mrs. J. C. Baile will have charge of the woman's department which will be far superior to anything of the kind ever held in this city.

The cattle and livestock exhibits will be greater than ever before attempted by the association while the poultry department will be larger than any previous one given here.

An innovation this year will be the selection of expert judges who are experts in their various lines.

Washington, Jan. 10.—Carrying $38,155,339, of which more than ten million dollars were for new projects and the remainder for continuing existing projects, the annual rivers and harbors bill was approved by the house committee today.

Chairman Sparkman will report the bill next week. An adverse minority report will be made by Representative Frier of Wisconsin.

The bill carries one hundred and sixty thousand dollars for Miami harbor and Biscayne bay.

TORNADO DAMAGES A FLORIDA TOWN

Live Oak, Fla., Jan. 10.—A tornado of considerable force lasting several minutes struck the western part of this town tonight injuring six and doing property damage of fifteen thousand dollars. A number of monster Live Oak trees were uprooted.

INQUIRIES COMING IN

For Space In Dade County's Fair to Be Held February 26 to March 4

Inquiry is already being made for space at the coming Dade County Fair which will be held at Royal Palm Park and in the fair building from February 26 to March 4.

This year's fair will be the greatest that Dade county has ever had aside from being the best mid-winter exposition in the south.

More than $3,000 in cash prizes will be offered while the department exhibits will exceed any previous event in the history of the fair association.

The officers of the association who will manage the exhibit are: J. C. Baile, president; E. A. Waddell, vice-president; J. I. Wilson, treasurer, and E. V. Blackman, secretary.

Mrs. J. C. Baile will have charge of the woman's department which will be far superior to anything of the kind ever held in this city.

The cattle and livestock exhibits will be greater than ever before attempted by the association while the poultry department will be larger than any previous one given here.

An innovation this year will be the selection of expert judges who are experts in their various lines.

WAR SHIFTS TO NORTH WHERE BATTLE RAGES

Germans and Russians Strong For Mastery In Region of Riga

RESULT NOT CERTAIN

Greece Will Probably Accept the Terms of the Allies' Ultimatum

Associated Press, Jan. 10.—In northwest Russia, in the region of Riga, a battle is apparently growing in intensity, but divergent reports leave the results attained beclouded.

While Petrograd asesrts that at Lake Babit the Russians captured German positions and advanced their line about a mile and a third, Berlin says that all Russian attacks southwest of Riga were repulsed.

The Teutonic forces crossed the Putna river Moldavia, and between Fokshani and Fundeni, forced the Russo-Rumanians across the Sereth river, capturing five hundred prisoners.

West of Galatz and along the Kassina river there has been heavy fighting, with both sides claiming the advantage.

British Indian troops captured a thousand yards of Turkish trenches northeast of Kut-El-Amara, Mesopotamia.

The British, east of Beaumont Hamel, on the Somme front, captured a German trench and one hundred and forty prisoners.

It is unofficially announced that Greece will answer the allies' ultimatum and that the council ministers favor its terms.

GETTING READY LET CONTRACT

For the Erection of Miami's New Y. M. C. A. Building

The Miami Y. M. C. A. is issuing a call for the third payment on subscriptions to the one hundred thousand-dollar building fund, and the officials are hoping that a goodly number of subscribers will pay the full amount of their subscriptions, as the money will be needed in letting the general contract.

Directors of the Y. M. C. A. at a meeting on January 2, instructed Architect H. H. Mundy to ask for bids on the plans submitted by him, and also for bids on an additional story, which if constructed would give eighty-four additional sleeping rooms. The bids will be alternate bids on a three and a four-story building with basement.

Working plans are now being prepared by the architect and will be ready for distribution on January 26. Plans and specifications will be on file at the office of the general secretary, Burdine building. Plans and specifications and proposal forms may be had on or after January 26 from H. Hastings Mundy, architect, 236 Twelfth street, upon payment of a deposit of fifty dollars. Thirty-five of the fifty dollars deposited will be refunded to the depositors returning plans and specifications in good condition.

The board of directors will receive bids until 7:30 p. m., of February 26. A bond for at least 25 per cent of the contractor's highest bid in the list of alternates will be required to accompany the bids as a guarantee that the contractor will enter into a contract in accordance with the proposal forms furnished with the specifications. The bond must be furnished by a well known security company.

Detailed plans for the swimming pool, which will be the finest in the south, provide for a lining throughout with mosaic tile and the floor and walls all around the pool will be of mosaic in the same pattern. The plans and specifications were all submitted by specialists in this line of work.

A special feature of the shower rooms is shown in the concealed lines of supply pipes coming through marble slabs and being assembled in a pipe alley between the slabs and the partition. Another feature of the shower rooms and dressing rooms in the basement will be the use of a wire guard partitions instead of solid partitions. These will admit light and provide perfect ventilation.

The water in the swimming pool will always be running and be kept clear and pure by constant filtration.

The general plans provide for what is known as a two-point control of the entire building. The desk in the general office on the lobby floor will be placed where the attendant will always have in view the activities in the lobby, reading room, social rooms, boys' lobby and gymnasium, besides having complete control to the entrance to the basement of the main stairway leading to the upper floor.

The other point of control will be the attendant's desk in the basement, always in view of the billiard room, bowling alleys, locker rooms, showers and swimming pool.

WANAMAKER COMING SOUTH

Wealthy Philadelphia Merchant Is Due to Arrive In Miami January 15

CHARTERED HOUSEBOAT

Will Make His Home On Board the Osiris During His Stay Here

John Wanamaker, the wealthy Philadelphia merchant, has chartered the houseboat Osiris, belonging to Mrs. Juliana Ferguson, and will spend three months cruising in the vicinity of Miami.

Mr. Wanamaker, who has been ill for some time past, will be accompanied here on January 15 by his private physician and nurse, and also by his private secretary and captain, who will take command of the houseboat. Captain Bacom, who is at present in command of the yacht, will remain on board the vessel as first officer.

In coming to Miami for a three months' visit, Mr. Wanamaker is following the example of Andrew Carnegie and many other men of the very wealthier class who are seeking renewed vitality after years of business cares. The wealthy Philadelphia merchant has been ailing for some time past and he has tried many other climates without any material relief, and hopes that a few months' visit to this section will bring about the desired results.

He visited Miami on his yacht last year for only a few brief periods of time while the yacht was at anchor beyond the government cut, and later cruised in South American waters for a long period of time. On this trip Mr. Wanamaker was reported as being benefited, but during the past summer and fall he is said to have failed in health.

On his last visit to Miami, Mr. Wanamaker fell in love with this place and would have remained here longer, but his ocean-going yacht drew too much water to enter the bay. He decided to return here again this year. He learned that the Osiris was open to charter and lost no time in making arrangements for this fine houseboat.

The same vessel was under charter by Samuel Untermyer last season while Andrew Carnegie chartered the houseboat Everglades from Coloned R. H. Thompson. Both of these gentlemen were so wrapped up in Miami as a cruising rendezvous that many wealthy men have been attracted to this section and will spend this season here for the first time.

The Osiris has been in use for a number of days past by the owner, Mrs. Juliana Ferguson of Huntington, L. I., who only yesterday returned from a cruise among the Florida keys with her daughters and sons. Mrs. Ferguson boarded a northbound train last night for her home on Long Island, where she will spend the winter. She was accompanied by her youngest son, F. Ferguson, and her daughter.

Miss May Ferguson, an elder daughter, has chartered the yacht Evelyn, and in company with her friend, Miss Church, will leave soon for a cruise among the keys.

The Ferguson boys will also remain here and will cruise in Wallace Ferguson's yacht Shrimp. Wallace Ferguson has only recently returned from a southern cruise in his yacht and was accompenied by some of his friends.

BASKETBALL PLAYERS WILL CLASH TONIGHT

Seminole basketball players and a team from Ft. Lauderdale will clash tonight in the Seminole's gymnasium on Eleventh street, and Saturday night the Seminoles and Pan Americans and the High school and Nationals will meet in scheduled city league games.

A five is coming from Daytona next week and games will be played Friday and Saturday, January 19th and 20th, and early in February the Seminole five will tour the state, going to Tampa among other places, for a game on the fourth with the Y. M. C. A. team which recently defeated every east coast team except the Seminoles.

MOOSE LODGE ENJOYED A FEAST.

The members of Miami lodge No. 595, Loyal Order of Moose, enjoyed a real treat last night when about twenty new members were initiated into the order. A delicious spread followed the ceremony, while a musical program was rendered.

The new members who joined the lodge last night were: John F. Huck, A. A. Brigham, Oscar Sanderson, E. C. Dunn, A. O. Yearian, F. U. Frow, V. H. Bacom, H. R. Rothwell, Herman Wolf, S. Rowe, A. J. Furlong, George F. Highman, D. S. Nivens, G. L. Aydelotte, H. M. Silvers, John Primer, Jr., E. A. Nusselman, A. C. Peters and C. H. Jones.

MEN OF CLASS AT NEW TOWN

Only the Courageous and Hardy Are the People Who Make Growth Possible

Only the courageous and hardy type of people are the ones to settle in a new country. It is this character of citizenship that has builded our cities, felled the forest and transformed the wilderness into fields of golden grain. Such is the character of the citizenship of Moore Haven and the Okeechobee country. Here without the hardships of the pioneer days or the cold blasts of disagreeable winters, where there are no forests to clear or stumps to pull, you find these brave men from all the walks of life who are rapidly settling in this fertile section. Among the settlers and investors of the Moore Haven district are found men of nation wide prominence, men who have amassed great fortunes—bank presidents, judges, doctors, merchants, farmers, mechanics, in fact men from every station of life and from all parts of the country. They just hear about the wonderful opportunities and come down to see, they invest or settle and tell their friends, and they also come down and invest. They all believe and boost and in doing so are building up a wonderful citizenship.

The very fact that every day is a growing day in this great Okeechobee country means that the lands are never idle, as is the case in the colder climates. From two to four crops can be grown on the same land per year. Also it means that one can so regulate the harvest of their crops that they will command the topmost prices of the market, and one can be independent even though the cost of living continues to rise by having vegetables and food stuff growing each day for theirselves and family.

COLORADO PEOPLE ARE LOOKING TO FLORIDA

Indications are favorable for an increased tourist business from Colorado Springs to south Florida this season, according to the belief of G. H. Logan, commercial agent of the Colorado & Southern Railway company, who has just written a letter on this subject to Managing Secretary Guy W. Livingston of the Miami Chamber of Commerce.

Mr. Logan wrote that he finds the "idealized bird's eye view of Miami" is an excellent advertisement. It attracts much attention and favorable comment, he added, and he is sure it has been the means of turning a number of tourists to Miami whose inclinations were favorable to California cities.

"This territory has heretofore been tributary to California on winter tourist travel, but there is now a trend toward Florida.

"The great difficulty the ticket agent finds in doing business to Florida is the lack of desirable diverse routing. The people have been treated so liberally by the lines to California in this respect and they feel cramped by the severe limitations placed on Florida business. That alone often decides them in favor of California."

WATERFRONT NOTES

W. S. THOMAS

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Cunningham and daughter, of Denver, Colo., went out to the fishing grounds, yesterday, on board the charter boat Helena, Captain Manson, and returned to the Royal Palm dock, late in the afternoon, with one kingfish, one turbit, one bonito and four sand eels.

Fishing from the charter boat, Waho, Captain Moller, yesterday afternoon. Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Kleeman, of New York, caught two twelve pound grouper. The party was out about half the day and returned much satisfied with the sport.

The yacht, Joyeuse, which belongs to Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Kluge, of Englewood, N. J., will leave today for a cruise in southern waters with her owner and family and a party of friends on board. Among the guests will be, S. M. Friede, of New York City, who reached here yesterday from Palm Beach on board his yacht, Barota, Captain Anderson. The Barota will remain here until the party returns.

The Joyeuse was being supplied with a large stock of provisions yesterday. Mr. Kluge has chartered the yacht, Dorothy, which will accompany the Joyeuse on the trip which will last about ten days.

The yacht Buffalo, Captain Layton, is due from the keys today. The yacht has been under charter by Mrs. Hatch of New York, for nearly a month. They leave Angel Fish creek this morning. Mrs. Hatch will go to Palm Beach when the charter expires on January 15. She has taken a cottage there for the season.

The yacht Donaire which belongs to A. W. Stanley, is lying at anchor in the bay opposite the Biscayne Bay Yacht club.

Colonel Robert M. Thompson returned yesterday from a cruise of several days on board the houseboat Everglades, and that vessel is now lying at anchor opposite the Biscayne Bay Yacht club. Colonel Thompson is entertaining a number of his friends on board his boat.

The yacht Doozie, belonging to George Tebeau, is being equipped at the Huffstetler ways with a new Mathews engine and a complete electrical appliance. After remaining here for awhile Mr. Tebeau will go to Palm Beach for a visit and will later offer his boat for charter.

Fishing on board the charter boat Vixen off the reef, yesterday, M. K. Cunningham and Captain N. D. Ellis caught three sand ells, two kingfish and several muttonfish. The catche was brought to the Elser pier and attracted considerable attention.

Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Paine of New York fished yesterday from the charter boat Ava, and returned with three yellow jack and some grouper which attracted considerable attention at the Royal Palm dock. The party fished in Little river and points inside the bay.

A party consisting of Whitney Leary of Washington, D. C., and Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Freund of Chicago, went out on board Captain Riley's charter boat Nemo, from Royal Palm dock, yesterday, and returned with two amberjack, four grouper, one bonito, two sharks, one red snapper and a kingfish. The fishing was done off the reef beyond Fowey Rock light house.

Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Peck of New York city, spent yesterday on a fishing trip on board the charter boat Juliet, Captain Ross, and caught three barracuda, two grouper and one cero. The party reported having a most enjoyable time.

Mr. and Mrs. B. D. Spilman of Warrenton, Va., entertained a party of friends with a sail on board their yacht Barracuda yesterday afternoon. In the party besides Mr. and Mrs. Spilman and Miss Peggy Spilman were Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Camden, the Misses Tevis and Ann Camden, Mrs. R. C. Meeker and F. V. H. Emery.

HOW TO BE RID OF CHRONIC DANDRUFF

The only way to be permanently rid of disgusting, untidy dandruff is to correct its cause. Destroy the dandruff germ and get rid of dandruff for good by rubbing a little of the genuine Parisian Sage directly on the bare scalp until absorbed. You will surely be amazed at the result of even one application.

Only a few days massage with Parisian Sage are needed to destroy the germs that cause the dandruff to form. The scalp becomes healthy, the hair will grow better, show more life and vitality, and you need never be troubled by dandruff again. Faded, dull or lifeless hair is quickly restored to beauty by this simple treatment, which is absolutely harmless.

CODY SEEKS OTHER PLAINS

So popular was the scout that he was chosen representative to the Nebraska legislature. After the expiration of his law-making term, he accepted the job of guiding the Russian Grand Duke Alexis and his party who were hunting throughout the west. Cody was richly rewarded, for he brought the party through the rougheest and most dangerous country, and they shot all kinds of game.

When the Sioux war broke out in 1876, Cody, who had just started in the Wild West show business, disbanded his company and joined in the campaign against the hostile tribes. In the battle of Indian Creek he distinguished himself by killing, in a desperate hand-to-hand fight, Yellow Hand, a Cheyenne chief.

Cody was initiated into the art of stage-craft by Ned Buntline, the author, and after the Sioux were subdued, he again turned to the show business. He collected a motley company of Indians, cowboys, scouts, trappers, and animals and produced his Wild West show first in Omaha on May 17, 1883. More than 5,000 people turned out to see the novelty. After that he traveled through the country. He was wildly greeted, for his fame had preceded him, and Buffalo Bill made a fortune.

In 1887, Cody went to Europe and won great success in London and the big cities of the continent. He later made another tour of Europe with his troupe.

In 1910, at the age of 64, he made what he called his "farewell tour." He invested his money in irrigation lands in Wyoming, and settled down to the simple life of the landed gentleman.

But the fire of adventure was still burning within him. Now and then he would invite a company of friends for long hunting trips in the Rocky Mountains, and on these trips he would try to soothe his "fighting nerve."

But these did not avail, and "Buffalo Bill" at the age of 70 again joined his old show. He was still as straight as an arrow, vigorous and commanding. Trouble had arisen in that spring of 1916 along the Mexican border, and the aged scout promised to quit his show and return to aid the Wyoming National Guard if he were needed.

Mr. Cody was married in 1866 in St. Louis to Miss Louise Frederic, daughter of a prominent French merchant. In March, 1916, they celebrated their golden wedding day at their ranch at Cody, Wyoming.

The funeral of Colonel Cody will be held Sunday afternoon at the Elks Home. The body will be placed in a vault.

It will be reburied later in a rock hewn tomb on the top of Lookout mountain, near here.

The body will also lie in state at the capitol and will be escorted from the Elks Home by federal troops.

FALSE ALARM GAVE DEPARTMENT A RUN.

A false alarm called the department to avenue G and Eleventh street last night. Some boys are believed to have pulled box 36 which is within easy reach. The box being only a few feet from the sidewalk.

Dan Goldman, who has the Monkey Speedway, is a real hustler, and his tent is always well filled. He has an excellent attraction, puts on a splendid program, and is entitled to the business he is doing.

OBITUARY

Ira A. Crenshaw.

Tampa, Jan. 10.—Ira A. Crenshaw, a member of the firm of Crenshaw Bros., and one of the best known wholesale produce men in the state, died Monday morning after a lingering illness. Mr. Crenshew was born in Leon county, Fla., forty-seven years ago and after completing his edducation, came to Tampa in 1895 and went into the wholesale produce business with his brother.

ACROSS THE STATE BY ELECTRIC LINE IS LATEST PROJECT

Tampa, Jan. 10.—After spending a portion of Monday inspecting the possibilities of Tampa as the west coast terminus of an electric line across the state from Melbourne to this city, a party of capitalists from St. Joseph, Mo., expressed much satisfaction over conditions in the city, and the section of the state through which the road is proposed to pass. The men in the party are said to represent banking houses interested in financing the building of the South Florida interurban Electric line from Tampa via Sanford, Orlando, St. Cloud Haines City, Lakeland and other points to Melbourne.

The members of the party, which is headed by W. S. Alyea of St. Cloud are: Ross C. Cox, with Mrs. Cox; C. D. Bremmer, J. E. Hunt, George W. Akers and J. J. Peters, all of St. Joseph. With the St. Joseph party are C. E. Carlson, Will Hall and Mr. Alyea, all of St. Cloud, Fla. Mr. Alyea was in Tampa several weeks ago, when he called at the board of trade, and was assured by Secretary Dickie that when he returned with the party of capitalists interested in the proposed road every courtesy would be extended his party by the board of trade.

The party was taken over the city in automobiles by Secretary Dickie, T. M. Wier and Perry G. Wall, and the members were shown the various points of interest in the city and had pointed out to them the advantages offered by Tampa for such a project as a coast-to-coast electric line.

According to one of the members of the party, the Florida Interurban Electric Railway company is already chartered as a $5,000,000 corporation.

The party left for Lakeland and will visit other points along the route of the proposed line across the state.

For the Erection of Miami's New Y. M. C. A. Building

The Miami Y. M. C. A. is issuing a call for the third payment on subscriptions to the one hundred thousand-dollar building fund, and the officials are hoping that a goodly number of subscribers will pay the full amount of their subscriptions, as the money will be needed in letting the general contract.

Directors of the Y. M. C. A. at a meeting on January 2, instructed Architect H. H. Mundy to ask for bids on the plans submitted by him, and also for bids on an additional story, which if constructed would give eighty-four additional sleeping rooms. The bids will be alternate bids on a three and a four-story building with basement.

Working plans are now being prepared by the architect and will be ready for distribution on January 26. Plans and specifications will be on file at the office of the general secretary, Burdine building. Plans and specifications and proposal forms may be had on or after January 26 from H. Hastings Mundy, architect, 236 Twelfth street, upon payment of a deposit of fifty dollars. Thirty-five of the fifty dollars deposited will be refunded to the depositors returning plans and specifications in good condition.

The board of directors will receive bids until 7:30 p. m., of February 26. A bond for at least 25 per cent of the contractor's highest bid in the list of alternates will be required to accompany the bids as a guarantee that the contractor will enter into a contract in accordance with the proposal forms furnished with the specifications. The bond must be furnished by a well known security company.

Detailed plans for the swimming pool, which will be the finest in the south, provide for a lining throughout with mosaic tile and the floor and walls all around the pool will be of mosaic in the same pattern. The plans and specifications were all submitted by specialists in this line of work.

A special feature of the shower rooms is shown in the concealed lines of supply pipes coming through marble slabs and being assembled in a pipe alley between the slabs and the partition. Another feature of the shower rooms and dressing rooms in the basement will be the use of a wire guard partitions instead of solid partitions. These will admit light and provide perfect ventilation.

The water in the swimming pool will always be running and be kept clear and pure by constant filtration.

The general plans provide for what is known as a two-point control of the entire building. The desk in the general office on the lobby floor will be placed where the attendant will always have in view the activities in the lobby, reading room, social rooms, boys' lobby and gymnasium, besides having complete control to the entrance to the basement of the main stairway leading to the upper floor.

The other point of control will be the attendant's desk in the basement, always in view of the billiard room, bowling alleys, locker rooms, showers and swimming pool.

MEN OF CLASS AT NEW TOWN

Only the Courageous and Hardy Are the People Who Make Growth Possible

Only the courageous and hardy type of people are the ones to settle in a new country. It is this character of citizenship that has builded our cities, felled the forest and transformed the wilderness into fields of golden grain. Such is the character of the citizenship of Moore Haven and the Okeechobee country. Here without the hardships of the pioneer days or the cold blasts of disagreeable winters, where there are no forests to clear or stumps to pull, you find these brave men from all the walks of life who are rapidly settling in this fertile section. Among the settlers and investors of the Moore Haven district are found men of nation wide prominence, men who have amassed great fortunes—bank presidents, judges, doctors, merchants, farmers, mechanics, in fact men from every station of life and from all parts of the country. They just hear about the wonderful opportunities and come down to see, they invest or settle and tell their friends, and they also come down and invest. They all believe and boost and in doing so are building up a wonderful citizenship.

The very fact that every day is a growing day in this great Okeechobee country means that the lands are never idle, as is the case in the colder climates. From two to four crops can be grown on the same land per year. Also it means that one can so regulate the harvest of their crops that they will command the topmost prices of the market, and one can be independent even though the cost of living continues to rise by having vegetables and food stuff growing each day for theirselves and family.

COLORADO PEOPLE ARE LOOKING TO FLORIDA

Indications are favorable for an increased tourist business from Colorado Springs to south Florida this season, according to the belief of G. H. Logan, commercial agent of the Colorado & Southern Railway company, who has just written a letter on this subject to Managing Secretary Guy W. Livingston of the Miami Chamber of Commerce.

Mr. Logan wrote that he finds the "idealized bird's eye view of Miami" is an excellent advertisement. It attracts much attention and favorable comment, he added, and he is sure it has been the means of turning a number of tourists to Miami whose inclinations were favorable to California cities.

"This territory has heretofore been tributary to California on winter tourist travel, but there is now a trend toward Florida.

"The great difficulty the ticket agent finds in doing business to Florida is the lack of desirable diverse routing. The people have been treated so liberally by the lines to California in this respect and they feel cramped by the severe limitations placed on Florida business. That alone often decides them in favor of California."

WANAMAKER COMING SOUTH

Wealthy Philadelphia Merchant Is Due to Arrive In Miami January 15

CHARTERED HOUSEBOAT

Will Make His Home On Board the Osiris During His Stay Here

John Wanamaker, the wealthy Philadelphia merchant, has chartered the houseboat Osiris, belonging to Mrs. Juliana Ferguson, and will spend three months cruising in the vicinity of Miami.

Mr. Wanamaker, who has been ill for some time past, will be accompanied here on January 15 by his private physician and nurse, and also by his private secretary and captain, who will take command of the houseboat. Captain Bacom, who is at present in command of the yacht, will remain on board the vessel as first officer.

In coming to Miami for a three months' visit, Mr. Wanamaker is following the example of Andrew Carnegie and many other men of the very wealthier class who are seeking renewed vitality after years of business cares. The wealthy Philadelphia merchant has been ailing for some time past and he has tried many other climates without any material relief, and hopes that a few months' visit to this section will bring about the desired results.

He visited Miami on his yacht last year for only a few brief periods of time while the yacht was at anchor beyond the government cut, and later cruised in South American waters for a long period of time. On this trip Mr. Wanamaker was reported as being benefited, but during the past summer and fall he is said to have failed in health.

On his last visit to Miami, Mr. Wanamaker fell in love with this place and would have remained here longer, but his ocean-going yacht drew too much water to enter the bay. He decided to return here again this year. He learned that the Osiris was open to charter and lost no time in making arrangements for this fine houseboat.

The same vessel was under charter by Samuel Untermyer last season while Andrew Carnegie chartered the houseboat Everglades from Coloned R. H. Thompson. Both of these gentlemen were so wrapped up in Miami as a cruising rendezvous that many wealthy men have been attracted to this section and will spend this season here for the first time.

The Osiris has been in use for a number of days past by the owner, Mrs. Juliana Ferguson of Huntington, L. I., who only yesterday returned from a cruise among the Florida keys with her daughters and sons. Mrs. Ferguson boarded a northbound train last night for her home on Long Island, where she will spend the winter. She was accompanied by her youngest son, F. Ferguson, and her daughter.

Miss May Ferguson, an elder daughter, has chartered the yacht Evelyn, and in company with her friend, Miss Church, will leave soon for a cruise among the keys.

The Ferguson boys will also remain here and will cruise in Wallace Ferguson's yacht Shrimp. Wallace Ferguson has only recently returned from a southern cruise in his yacht and was accompenied by some of his friends.

BASKETBALL PLAYERS WILL CLASH TONIGHT

Seminole basketball players and a team from Ft. Lauderdale will clash tonight in the Seminole's gymnasium on Eleventh street, and Saturday night the Seminoles and Pan Americans and the High school and Nationals will meet in scheduled city league games.

A five is coming from Daytona next week and games will be played Friday and Saturday, January 19th and 20th, and early in February the Seminole five will tour the state, going to Tampa among other places, for a game on the fourth with the Y. M. C. A. team which recently defeated every east coast team except the Seminoles.

MOOSE LODGE ENJOYED A FEAST.

The members of Miami lodge No. 595, Loyal Order of Moose, enjoyed a real treat last night when about twenty new members were initiated into the order. A delicious spread followed the ceremony, while a musical program was rendered.

The new members who joined the lodge last night were: John F. Huck, A. A. Brigham, Oscar Sanderson, E. C. Dunn, A. O. Yearian, F. U. Frow, V. H. Bacom, H. R. Rothwell, Herman Wolf, S. Rowe, A. J. Furlong, George F. Highman, D. S. Nivens, G. L. Aydelotte, H. M. Silvers, John Primer, Jr., E. A. Nusselman, A. C. Peters and C. H. Jones.

WATERFRONT NOTES

W. S. THOMAS

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Cunningham and daughter, of Denver, Colo., went out to the fishing grounds, yesterday, on board the charter boat Helena, Captain Manson, and returned to the Royal Palm dock, late in the afternoon, with one kingfish, one turbit, one bonito and four sand eels.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Rogers, of Boston, chartered the Cocoon, Captain Meyers, yesterday afternoon, and after spending an hour or so, caught three large grouper that attracted attention at the Royal Palm dock.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Yweisel, G. B. Buchanan and Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Garretson, spent a few hours sailing on the outside, yesterday afternoon, and returned to the Royal Palm dock. The party was out on board the Snap Shot, Captain Greene.

Fishing from the charter boat, Waho, Captain Moller, yesterday afternoon. Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Kleeman, of New York, caught two twelve pound grouper. The party was out about half the day and returned much satisfied with the sport.

The yacht, Joyeuse, which belongs to Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Kluge, of Englewood, N. J., will leave today for a cruise in southern waters with her owner and family and a party of friends on board. Among the guests will be, S. M. Friede, of New York City, who reached here yesterday from Palm Beach on board his yacht, Barota, Captain Anderson. The Barota will remain here until the party returns.

The Joyeuse was being supplied with a large stock of provisions yesterday. Mr. Kluge has chartered the yacht, Dorothy, which will accompany the Joyeuse on the trip which will last about ten days.

The yacht Buffalo, Captain Layton, is due from the keys today. The yacht has been under charter by Mrs. Hatch of New York, for nearly a month. They leave Angel Fish creek this morning. Mrs. Hatch will go to Palm Beach when the charter expires on January 15. She has taken a cottage there for the season.

Colonel Robert M. Thompson returned yesterday from a cruise of several days on board the houseboat Everglades, and that vessel is now lying at anchor opposite the Biscayne Bay Yacht club. Colonel Thompson is entertaining a number of his friends on board his boat.

The yacht Doozie, belonging to George Tebeau, is being equipped at the Huffstetler ways with a new Mathews engine and a complete electrical appliance. After remaining here for awhile Mr. Tebeau will go to Palm Beach for a visit and will later offer his boat for charter.

Fishing on board the charter boat Vixen off the reef, yesterday, M. K. Cunningham and Captain N. D. Ellis caught three sand ells, two kingfish and several muttonfish. The catche was brought to the Elser pier and attracted considerable attention.

Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Paine of New York fished yesterday from the charter boat Ava, and returned with three yellow jack and some grouper which attracted considerable attention at the Royal Palm dock. The party fished in Little river and points inside the bay.

A party consisting of Whitney Leary of Washington, D. C., and Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Freund of Chicago, went out on board Captain Riley's charter boat Nemo, from Royal Palm dock, yesterday, and returned with two amberjack, four grouper, one bonito, two sharks, one red snapper and a kingfish. The fishing was done off the reef beyond Fowey Rock light house.

Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Peck of New York city, spent yesterday on a fishing trip on board the charter boat Juliet, Captain Ross, and caught three barracuda, two grouper and one cero. The party reported having a most enjoyable time.

Mr. and Mrs. B. D. Spilman of Warrenton, Va., entertained a party of friends with a sail on board their yacht Barracuda yesterday afternoon. In the party besides Mr. and Mrs. Spilman and Miss Peggy Spilman were Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Camden, the Misses Tevis and Ann Camden, Mrs. R. C. Meeker and F. V. H. Emery.

HOW TO BE RID OF CHRONIC DANDRUFF

The only way to be permanently rid of disgusting, untidy dandruff is to correct its cause. Destroy the dandruff germ and get rid of dandruff for good by rubbing a little of the genuine Parisian Sage directly on the bare scalp until absorbed. You will surely be amazed at the result of even one application.

Only a few days massage with Parisian Sage are needed to destroy the germs that cause the dandruff to form. The scalp becomes healthy, the hair will grow better, show more life and vitality, and you need never be troubled by dandruff again. Faded, dull or lifeless hair is quickly restored to beauty by this simple treatment, which is absolutely harmless.

CODY SEEKS OTHER PLAINS

So popular was the scout that he was chosen representative to the Nebraska legislature. After the expiration of his law-making term, he accepted the job of guiding the Russian Grand Duke Alexis and his party who were hunting throughout the west. Cody was richly rewarded, for he brought the party through the rougheest and most dangerous country, and they shot all kinds of game.

When the Sioux war broke out in 1876, Cody, who had just started in the Wild West show business, disbanded his company and joined in the campaign against the hostile tribes. In the battle of Indian Creek he distinguished himself by killing, in a desperate hand-to-hand fight, Yellow Hand, a Cheyenne chief.

Cody was initiated into the art of stage-craft by Ned Buntline, the author, and after the Sioux were subdued, he again turned to the show business. He collected a motley company of Indians, cowboys, scouts, trappers, and animals and produced his Wild West show first in Omaha on May 17, 1883. More than 5,000 people turned out to see the novelty. After that he traveled through the country. He was wildly greeted, for his fame had preceded him, and Buffalo Bill made a fortune.

In 1887, Cody went to Europe and won great success in London and the big cities of the continent. He later made another tour of Europe with his troupe.

In 1910, at the age of 64, he made what he called his "farewell tour." He invested his money in irrigation lands in Wyoming, and settled down to the simple life of the landed gentleman.

But the fire of adventure was still burning within him. Now and then he would invite a company of friends for long hunting trips in the Rocky Mountains, and on these trips he would try to soothe his "fighting nerve."

But these did not avail, and "Buffalo Bill" at the age of 70 again joined his old show. He was still as straight as an arrow, vigorous and commanding. Trouble had arisen in that spring of 1916 along the Mexican border, and the aged scout promised to quit his show and return to aid the Wyoming National Guard if he were needed.

Mr. Cody was married in 1866 in St. Louis to Miss Louise Frederic, daughter of a prominent French merchant. In March, 1916, they celebrated their golden wedding day at their ranch at Cody, Wyoming.

The funeral of Colonel Cody will be held Sunday afternoon at the Elks Home. The body will be placed in a vault.

It will be reburied later in a rock hewn tomb on the top of Lookout mountain, near here.

The body will also lie in state at the capitol and will be escorted from the Elks Home by federal troops.

FALSE ALARM GAVE DEPARTMENT A RUN.

A false alarm called the department to avenue G and Eleventh street last night. Some boys are believed to have pulled box 36 which is within easy reach. The box being only a few feet from the sidewalk.

Dan Goldman, who has the Monkey Speedway, is a real hustler, and his tent is always well filled. He has an excellent attraction, puts on a splendid program, and is entitled to the business he is doing.

OBITUARY

Ira A. Crenshaw.

Tampa, Jan. 10.—Ira A. Crenshaw, a member of the firm of Crenshaw Bros., and one of the best known wholesale produce men in the state, died Monday morning after a lingering illness. Mr. Crenshew was born in Leon county, Fla., forty-seven years ago and after completing his education, came to Tampa in 1895 and went into the wholesale produce business with his brother.

ACROSS THE STATE BY ELECTRIC LINE IS LATEST PROJECT

Tampa, Jan. 10.—After spending a portion of Monday inspecting the possibilities of Tampa as the west coast terminus of an electric line across the state from Melbourne to this city, a party of capitalists from St. Joseph, Mo., expressed much satisfaction over conditions in the city, and the section of the state through which the road is proposed to pass. The men in the party are said to represent banking houses interested in financing the building of the South Florida interurban Electric line from Tampa via Sanford, Orlando, St. Cloud Haines City, Lakeland and other points to Melbourne.

The members of the party, which is headed by W. S. Alyea of St. Cloud are: Ross C. Cox, with Mrs. Cox; C. D. Bremmer, J. E. Hunt, George W. Akers and J. J. Peters, all of St. Joseph. With the St. Joseph party are C. E. Carlson, Will Hall and Mr. Alyea, all of St. Cloud, Fla. Mr. Alyea was in Tampa several weeks ago, when he called at the board of trade, and was assured by Secretary Dickie that when he returned with the party of capitalists interested in the proposed road every courtesy would be extended his party by the board of trade.

The party was taken over the city in automobiles by Secretary Dickie, T. M. Wier and Perry G. Wall, and the members were shown the various points of interest in the city and had pointed out to them the advantages offered by Tampa for such a project as a coast-to-coast electric line.

According to one of the members of the party, the Florida Interurban Electric Railway company is already chartered as a $5,000,000 corporation.

The party left for Lakeland and will visit other points along the route of the proposed line across the state.

EXAMINATIONS FOR THE CIVIL SERVICE

Opportunities for employment will be offered by the United States government during January and February by means of a number of civil service examinations to be held in the federal building here, and the positions thus opened range from calculating machine operator to foundry helper.

Examination for foundry helper will be held on January 17. The entrance salary is $720 per year, and the vacancy is in the department of commerce.

An examination for assistant epidemiologist will be had on January 30 to fill vacancies in the public health department. The entrance salaries range from $2,000 to $2,500.

On January 30 an examination will be had for dairy bacteriologist to fill vacancies in the department of agriculture. The entrance salary is $1,800 to $2,220.

An examination for explosives chemist will be had on the same date to fill vacancies in Philadelphia and elsewhere. Graduation in chemistry and five years' experience in handling, testing and manufacturing explosives are required. The entrance salary is $3,300.

Mrs. Bryan Spoke to Large Crowd of Interested Women

Just about every woman of prominence in Miami, in Cocoanut Grove and in Fort Lauderdale, not to mention those winter visitors who come from every part of the country, were present at the suffrage luncheon yesterday noon at Ye Wayside Inn. Women of importance along every line of social endeavor, in fact, the women of the community who are doing the most important work for the community, made up the huge number of women who filled the two long lines of tables at the inn yesterday, for the luncheon which was so splendidly served and to listen to the speakers of the afternoon, in particular, Mrs. William Jennings Bryan.

Yellow flowers everywhere flaunted the suffrage colors from the tables and charmingly placed in vases along the walls. The huge suffrage banner, "Ballots for Both," which is the especial trophy of the Miami league, decorated the middle wall, while other "Votes for Women" ribbons were everywhere.

Mrs. Anna L. Andrus, president of the Miami league, opened the meeting and introduced the speakers. She extended a cordial welcome to the many guests and welcomed as the first speaker Mrs. Effie Lawrence, general secretary of the national W. C. T. U.

Mrs. Lawrence emphasized the difficulty of changing fashions in thought as contrasted to the ease with which most women changed their fashions in dress and said that work for suffrage was merely work for changing the fashion of an old thought. She brought out her experience that there is no movement of anti-suffrage except for organized vice. She did not believe that every woman who did not believe in suffrage was of this nature of course, but held that the greater number were opposed through thoughtlessness. She concluded with a very apropos little poem on the butterfly who didn't want to fly, but would rather stay a worm.

Mrs. W. E. Walsh of Pittsburgh was the next speaker. In opening her subject Mrs. Walsh said that suffrage in her estimation was the hardest thing in the world to prove because it was so absolutely self-evident. he gave a very vivid and practical description of her work in getting suffrage in her district in Pennsylvania and concluded with the remark that the men finally voted for it because they saw that it wasn't the thing to be on the losing side.

Mrs. Jacquith of Delaware reviewed her experience in four states in the union in a very witty manner. Her remarks about the chivalrous southern men who could not let their women go to the polls because they seemed to be infested with a curious sort of germ "for women only."

Mrs. Woodburn of Maryland, who had voted in Idaho for many years spoke of the excellent condition of the homes in the west where suffrage for women is now a matter of course.

The speaker of the afternoon, Mrs. William Jennings Bryan, received an ovation on her introduction and began her speech with the statement that she was interested in the question of suffrage because she wanted to vote before she died and if she couldn't in Nebraska she wanted to in Florida. And in consequence, no matter what Mr. Bryan did her residence is going to be where she could vote.

Mrs. Bryan continued with one of the cleverest and wittiest expositions on the reasons why men are opposed to the vote for women. She used the reductio ad absurdam argument with so much clearness and force, and with such a wealth of delightfully funny example that her listeners were fairly weeping with joy into their napkins. All the old stock arguments of the opposed, the argument which in themselves refute themselves, she cited most cleverly. Going on with the more serious arguments, Mrs. Bryan said she believed absolutely that woman's place was the home and that man's place was in his business providing for the home. But since the men seem to be able to do their principal work and other things beside she felt it was not too much to hope that if women get up a little bit earlier in the mornings and went to bed a little later at night they might be able, by trying very hard indeed, to cast a ballot two or three times a year. She also used the delightful reductio ad absurdam method on the statements that if women have the vote they will become unsexed and lose their femininity and stated that if one believed this to be the case no doubt one believed that after women vote men will plead their love in vain, there will be no more marrying, no more happy homes, no more children, and mankind will die out while the voting women will go on voting from morning to night, day in and day out, month after month, year after year. She emphasized the fact that the woman suffrage movement was not the whole of the woman question and urged her audience to read Olive Schreiner's "Woman and Labor" on the question. Women should be not only man's physical counterpart, she said, but his mental and moral counterpart. Women are more than breeding machines as men are more than sires. In concluding Mrs. Bryan urged these well educated, comfortable women to show the world that they did not need to be anything more than thoroughly womenly to want the ballot.

"A tandem team," she concluded, "is never used to pull anything. They always put the horses side by side for that."

At the conclusion of the meeting Miss Pope urged the members to work for the presidential electors which she said may be granted to the women by the legislature and told them to write immediately to Dr. Huglett on the subject.

The many suffragists present at the luncheon were: Mrs. Hicks Allen, Mrs. A. L. Andrus, Mrs. Kate Aplington, Mrs. K. W. Avery, Mrs. W. H. Auld, Miss Eva Bates, Miss Angie Bates, Mrs. Botsford, Mrs. H. L. Brown, Mrs. Margaret Burlingame, Mrs. W. P. Brown, Mrs. A. H. Burlen, Mrs. J. M. Bercegeay, Mrs. F G. Barr, Mrs. W. E. Brown, Mrs. H. Mr. and Mrs. O. J. Mulford have concluded a summer's sojourn in the north and have returned to Miami for the season. They are now at the Gralynn hotel awaiting the completion of their cottage at Belle Isle.

Mrs. Matson Hill and daughter, Miss Jean Hill, of Chicago, who have been cruising among the lower keys for the past month, are now at the Gralynn for the rest of the winter.

Mrs. W. C. Martin of Spartinsburg, S. C., has arrived to pass the season in Miami as the guest of her sister, Mrs. M. J. McDonald, of 931 Fourteenth street.

INSPIRING MEETING.

Under the leadership of Miss Roberts the members of the Baptist Woman's Missionary society held a most inspiring meeting yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. W. H. Peeples, where they are observing the week of prayer for foreign missions.

The subject for the afternoon was China.

Miss Roberts led the devotional exercises with which the meeting was opened. Mrs. Frank Keene sang most delightfully.

Mrs. W. B. Hinton gave a reading with the subject, "If Thou Kneweth Thou Wouldst Act."

Miss Roberts then gave a most interesting account of her personal work among the Chinese of Toronto, Canada, which Mrs. W. J. Hauser followed with an account of mission work among the Chinese of Chicago. She also sang a song in Chinese.

Mrs. Steussy and Miss Alice Baker sang a duet while the offering was being taken. Mrs. J. L. White made the closing prayer.

The meeting today under the head of "Medical Missions," will be lead by Mrs. L. H. Calkins.

Sixth Anniversary Organization Ft. Lauderdale Woman's Club

A birthday cake made of nine dozen eggs and goodness knows how many pounds of flour has been made for the birthday party of the Fort Lauderdale Woman's club, which will this afternoon celebrate its sixth anniversary with a monster birthday party on the lawn of Mrs. Frank Stranahan's place in Fort Lauderdale.

The lawn itself, which slopes delightfully down to the river, will be charmingly decorated as a background for the program and the party.

The cake will be cut and served by the past presidents of the club, who are: Mrs. F. R. Oliver, Mrs. T. G. Ten Brook, Mrs. H. G. Wheeler and Mrs. Frank Stranahan, while the present president, Mrs. Belle Goodrich, will preside.

The program for the afternoon will include a masque, "The Pied Piper," by the public school children under the charge of Miss McLoud. There will also be selections from members of the music department of the high school.

Invitations to the birthday party have been sent to all the woman's clubs in the district and a large gathering is expected.

Delightful Program Presented To Guests of Trinity's Silver Tea

With a charming grouping of little tea tables and decorated lavishly with roses the Woman's Club auditorium yesterday afternoon made a delightful setting for the silver tea given by the members of the Trinity Episcopal Guild.

The host of guests were met at the door by Mrs. Tom Cheatham and her assistants, Mrs. N. B. Fuller, Mrs. K. M. Large and Mrs. W. K. Patridge.

A very delightful program was presented to the guests. The singers whose music added so much to the pleasure of the afternoon were Mrs. Rich, Mrs. Kelly, Mr. Riach and Mrs. Eugene Romfh while Mrs. Sproule-Baker, Miss Bates and Mrs. H. Pierre Branning played delightfully.

During the intervals between the selections tea, sandwiches and yuletide cookies were served by the Misses Evelyn Spencer, Evelyn Hopkins, Emma Lummus and Katherine and Bertha Huelsenkamp.

At the close of the afternoon Mrs. Fredericks announced the cake sale on Saturday which will be held at Elbre's. All who are to contribute cakes are asked to bring them to the drug store after nine o'clock.

The members and their guests yesterday afternoon were Mrs. Donalson, Miss Kinninworth, Mrs. Baker, of New York, Miss Hunter, Mrs. Adams of Ashtabula, Mrs. R. R. Reimert, Mrs. Ainsworth of Salt Lake City, Mrs. Iva-Sproule-Baker, Mrs. Harry Church, Mrs. Davis, Mrs. Charlotte Albury, Mr. and Mrs. Riach, Mrs. W. N. ## Mrs. Bryan Spoke to Large Crowd of Interested Women

Just about every woman of prominence in Miami, in Cocoanut Grove and in Fort Lauderdale, not to mention those winter visitors who come from every part of the country, were present at the suffrage luncheon yesterday noon at Ye Wayside Inn. Women of importance along every line of social endeavor, in fact, the women of the community who are doing the most important work for the community, made up the huge number of women who filled the two long lines of tables at the inn yesterday, for the luncheon which was so splendidly served and to listen to the speakers of the afternoon, in particular, Mrs. William Jennings Bryan.

Yellow flowers everywhere flaunted the suffrage colors from the tables and charmingly placed in vases along the walls. The huge suffrage banner, "Ballots for Both," which is the especial trophy of the Miami league, decorated the middle wall, while other "Votes for Women" ribbons were everywhere.

Mrs. Anna L. Andrus, president of the Miami league, opened the meeting and introduced the speakers. She extended a cordial welcome to the many guests and welcomed as the first speaker Mrs. Effie Lawrence, general secretary of the national W. C. T. U.

Mrs. Lawrence emphasized the difficulty of changing fashions in thought as contrasted to the ease with which most women changed their fashions in dress and said that work for suffrage was merely work for changing the fashion of an old thought. She brought out her experience that there is no movement of anti-suffrage except for organized vice. She did not believe that every woman who did not believe in suffrage was of this nature of course, but held that the greater number were opposed through thoughtlessness. She concluded with a very apropos little poem on the butterfly who didn't want to fly, but would rather stay a worm.

Mrs. W. E. Walsh of Pittsburgh was the next speaker. In opening her subject Mrs. Walsh said that suffrage in her estimation was the hardest thing in the world to prove because it was so absolutely self-evident. he gave a very vivid and practical description of her work in getting suffrage in her district in Pennsylvania and concluded with the remark that the men finally voted for it because they saw that it wasn't the thing to be on the losing side.

Mrs. Jacquith of Delaware reviewed her experience in four states in the union in a very witty manner. Her remarks about the chivalrous southern men who could not let their women go to the polls because they seemed to be infested with a curious sort of germ "for women only."

Mrs. Woodburn of Maryland, who had voted in Idaho for many years spoke of the excellent condition of the homes in the west where suffrage for women is now a matter of course.

The speaker of the afternoon, Mrs. William Jennings Bryan, received an ovation on her introduction and began her speech with the statement that she was interested in the question of suffrage because she wanted to vote before she died and if she couldn't in Nebraska she wanted to in Florida. And in consequence, no matter what Mr. Bryan did her residence is going to be where she could vote.

Mrs. Bryan continued with one of the cleverest and wittiest expositions on the reasons why men are opposed to the vote for women. She used the reductio ad absurdam argument with so much clearness and force, and with such a wealth of delightfully funny example that her listeners were fairly weeping with joy into their napkins. All the old stock arguments of the opposed, the argument which in themselves refute themselves, she cited most cleverly. Going on with the more serious arguments, Mrs. Bryan said she believed absolutely that woman's place was the home and that man's place was in his business providing for the home. But since the men seem to be able to do their principal work and other things beside she felt it was not too much to hope that if women get up a little bit earlier in the mornings and went to bed a little later at night they might be able, by trying very hard indeed, to cast a ballot two or three times a year. She also used the delightful reductio ad absurdam method on the statements that if women have the vote they will become unsexed and lose their femininity and stated that if one believed this to be the case no doubt one believed that after women vote men will plead their love in vain, there will be no more marrying, no more happy homes, no more children, and mankind will die out while the voting women will go on voting from morning to night, day in and day out, month after month, year after year. She emphasized the fact that the woman suffrage movement was not the whole of the woman question and urged her audience to read Olive Schreiner's "Woman and Labor" on the question. Women should be not only man's physical counterpart, she said, but his mental and moral counterpart. Women are more than breeding machines as men are more than sires. In concluding Mrs. Bryan urged these well educated, comfortable women to show the world that they did not need to be anything more than thoroughly womenly to want the ballot.

"A tandem team," she concluded, "is never used to pull anything. They always put the horses side by side for that."

At the conclusion of the meeting Miss Pope urged the members to work for the presidential electors which she said may be granted to the women by the legislature and told them to write immediately to Dr. Huglett on the subject.

The many suffragists present at the luncheon were: Mrs. Hicks Allen, Mrs. A. L. Andrus, Mrs. Kate Applington, Mrs. K. W. Avery, Mrs. W. H. Auld, Miss Eva Bates, Miss Angie Bates, Mrs. Botsford, Mrs. H. L. Brown, Mrs. Margaret Burlingame, Mrs. W. P. Brown, Mrs. A. H. Burlen, Mrs. J. M. Bercegeay, Mrs. F G. Barr, Mrs. W. E. Brown, Mrs. H. ## Personal Mention

A. G. Nixon of Minneapolis has recently arrived to begin work for the Seminole hotel in the capacity of front clerk. He is experienced in his work, having been employed at many resort cities of the east and north and in the west also.

Mr. and Mrs. S. P. Zeureck of Belleville, Ill., who have been guests of the Gralynn hotel for some time past, have taken a cottage on Eighteenth street for the season.

Mr. and Mrs. O. J. Mulford have concluded a summer's sojourn in the north and have returned to Miami for the season. They are now at the Gralynn hotel awaiting the completion of their cottage at Belle Isle.

Mrs. Matson Hill and daughter, Miss Jean Hill, of Chicago, who have been cruising among the lower keys for the past month, are now at the Gralynn for the rest of the winter.

Mrs. W. C. Martin of Spartinsburg, S. C., has arrived to pass the season in Miami as the guest of her sister, Mrs. M. J. McDonald, of 931 Fourteenth street.

INSPIRING MEETING.

Under the leadership of Miss Roberts the members of the Baptist Woman's Missionary society held a most inspiring meeting yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. W. H. Peeples, where they are observing the week of prayer for foreign missions.

The subject for the afternoon was China.

Miss Roberts led the devotional exercises with which the meeting was opened. Mrs. Frank Keene sang most delightfully.

Mrs. W. B. Hinton gave a reading with the subject, "If Thou Kneweth Thou Wouldst Act."

Miss Roberts then gave a most interesting account of her personal work among the Chinese of Toronto, Canada, which Mrs. W. J. Hauser followed with an account of mission work among the Chinese of Chicago. She also sang a song in Chinese.

Mrs. Steussy and Miss Alice Baker sang a duet while the offering was being taken. Mrs. J. L. White made the closing prayer.

The meeting today under the head of "Medical Missions," will be lead by Mrs. L. H. Calkins.

ANNUAL CONVENTION W. C. T. U.

The annual convention of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union of the seventh district of Florida meets in the Methodist church in Boynton today and Friday.

The state president of the W. C. T. U., Miss Minnie E. Neal, will be present and deliver an address. Miss Neal is widely known as one of the leading temperance workers of America.

LINGER LONGERS.

The Linger-Longers will be entertained this afternoon by Mrs. L. D. Gates and Miss Lula Weathers.

Sixth Anniversary Organization Ft. Lauderdale Woman's Club

A birthday cake made of nine dozen eggs and goodness knows how many pounds of flour has been made for the birthday party of the Fort Lauderdale Woman's club, which will this afternoon celebrate its sixth anniversary with a monster birthday party on the lawn of Mrs. Frank Stranahan's place in Fort Lauderdale.

The lawn itself, which slopes delightfully down to the river, will be charmingly decorated as a background for the program and the party.

The cake will be cut and served by the past presidents of the club, who are: Mrs. F. R. Oliver, Mrs. T. G. Ten Brook, Mrs. H. G. Wheeler and Mrs. Frank Stranahan, while the present president, Mrs. Belle Goodrich, will preside.

The program for the afternoon will include a masque, "The Pied Piper," by the public school children under the charge of Miss McLoud. There will also be selections from members of the music department of the high school.

Invitations to the birthday party have been sent to all the woman's clubs in the district and a large gathering is expected.

Delightful Program Presented To Guests of Trinity's Silver Tea

With a charming grouping of little tea tables and decorated lavishly with roses the Woman's Club auditorium yesterday afternoon made a delightful setting for the silver tea given by the members of the Trinity Episcopal Guild.

The host of guests were met at the door by Mrs. Tom Cheatham and her assistants, Mrs. N. B. Fuller, Mrs. K. M. Large and Mrs. W. K. Patridge.

A very delightful program was presented to the guests. The singers whose music added so much to the pleasure of the afternoon were Mrs. Rich, Mrs. Kelly, Mr. Riach and Mrs. Eugene Romfh while Mrs. Sproule-Baker, Miss Bates and Mrs. H. Pierre Branning played delightfully.

During the intervals between the selections tea, sandwiches and yuletide cookies were served by the Misses Evelyn Spencer, Evelyn Hopkins, Emma Lummus and Katherine and Bertha Huelsenkamp.

At the close of the afternoon Mrs. Fredericks announced the cake sale on Saturday which will be held at Elbre's. All who are to contribute cakes are asked to bring them to the drug store after nine o'clock.

The members and their guests yesterday afternoon were Mrs. Donalson, Miss Kinninworth, Mrs. Baker, of New York, Miss Hunter, Mrs. Adams of Ashtabula, Mrs. R. R. Reimert, Mrs. Ainsworth of Salt Lake City, Mrs. Iva-Sproule-Baker, Mrs. Harry Church, Mrs. Davis, Mrs. Charlotte Albury, Mr. and Mrs. Riach, Mrs. W. N. Hull, Mrs. Kelly, Mrs. Gamble, Mrs. Erwin of Philadelphia, Miss Kathleen Erwin, Mrs. Albert Flowers, Mrs. Hazlett, Mrs. E. C. Sellers and Mrs. E. S. Hadley, of Philadelphia, Mrs. Cyrus Jacquith of Delaware, Miss A. M. Scarborough, Mrs. L. C. Branning, Mrs. C. L. Wright, Mrs. R. H. Wilson, Mrs. N. B. Fuller, Mrs. Cheatham, Mrs. W. K. Partridge, Mrs. W. L. Hopkins, Miss Althea Miller, Mrs. Maria Lowe, Mrs. J. N. Lummus, Mrs. H. H. McDonald, Mrs. Chapman, Mrs. T. E. James, Mrs. I. D. Ozanna, Mrs. Richard Sulzner, Mrs. C. H. ## GLENN CURTISS AND FAMILY ARE HERE

Glenn H. Curtis, president of the Curtiss Aeroplane company of Buffalo, accompanied by Mrs. Curtiss, Glen H. Curtiss, Jr., a four year old, Mrs. Jennie Neff, Mrs. Curtiss' mother, and Miss Adele Hendershot, arrived in Miami yesterday, and took up their residence at the house owned by C. M. Brown in Miramar, where they will spend the winter.

An effort was made by a reporter to secure an interview with Mr. Curtiss last night, but he had retired, as he sprained his ankle yesterday while working around the grounds of his home, and he could not be disturbed.

W. Earl Dodge of New York, also arrived in town yesterday and it is understood that he is here for the express purpose of having an interview with Mr. Curtiss relative to matters in connection with the aviation school.

Mr. Dodge came south on the Sabalo, his palatial yacht, but he was not aboard when a reporter visited it last night.

SHOULD BE ADOPTED IN DADE

Grade crossings are one of the banes of the American people. Owing to the very necessities of the case, roads crossing railroads must, by a vast majority of cases, be at grade, and will continue to be until the country is much older and much more settled than it is at present.

Since the days of automobiles began, grade crossing accidents, resulting from a want of care on the part of drivers and from other causes, have multiplied and continue to be a menace to the safety, not only of automobile drivers and passengers, but of railroad property and to passengers on trains.

One of the puzzles of engineers is how to overcome the difficulties attendant on railroad crossings at grade. California has invented a scheme that materially lessens the danger to those crossing railroad tracks on the usual country roads, and Missouri is examining the device with a view to adopting it. There is a possibility that Dade county could lessen many of the dangers of automobile travel, by adopting the same protection, which is simplicity, itself.

In some places in California, where a country road crosses a railroad, the road is widened so as to permit building on each side of the railroad of a wall or cairn, which divides the country road into two, just at that point. This makes a deflection in the road, which compels the automobile driver to slow down, whether he wants to or not. On top of this dividing wall, or cairn, is placed a warning sign, intended to put the auto driver on notice that he is approaching a danger zone.

Imagine a V made of stone, with the wide end toward the railroad and the other pointing toward the way from which the automobile is approaching. Then duplicate this by placing another on the other side of the railroad, and it can readily be seen how the deflection in the road would compel the automobilist to approach the crossing slowly, and which with the warning, would enable him to stop, look and listen, before he attempted to cross the tracks.

The beauty of the California scheme is that it can be put into effect without great cost, for the wall can be made of the rudest stone, which, in this county, is abundant and cheap, and that it compels attention on the part of the automobilist.

NOT TOO LATE TO CHANGE ORDER

Nothing is settled until it is settled right, and it is to be presumed that any action of the city council will be cheerfully changed if that body is convinced that an improvement can be made on an order entered by the council, if conditions change and the people desire some other arrangement than that once decided upon.

Action by the North Miami Improvement Association as to the location of the street railway, above Wadell street, construction upon which must be commenced soon, was timely and in general accord with the wishes of a large number of people.

At present the expectation is that the railway must be continued on Biscayne Drive, unless the council sees its way clear to making a change.

The argument against the use of Biscayne Drive for street railway purposes, is that it is the ending of the Dixie Highway and of the Montreal to Miami Highway, and is the only entrance to the city for the great highways from the north. Instead of being restricted by street car rails, it ought to be widened and made a boulevard, of which the city could be proud. It ought to be lined with stately trees and beautiful foliage.. It ought to be well paved and smooth. It ought to be a broad thoroughfare, with nothing to impede the traffic into and out of the city. It ought to be Miami's first and best introduction to the tourist who comes to the city by automobile.

A street railway upon that street, which ought to be a splendid one, would disfigure it and render it less a part of the great highways of which it ought to be a delightful portion.

If the lines are changed to Avenue L, a larger number of people will be accommodated, a larger territory will be developed and it will reach directly into a territory that will be developed by the railroad company, when it begins the work of creating a new railroad center at Buena Vista.

There is time for the council to change its order in respect to the construction of the street railroad north of Wadell street, and it should give careful consideration to the arguments of those who want the line changed from Biscayne Drive.

Better follow the regular crossings or the policeman will get you, if you don't watch out.

House owners who have furnished room which they can spare for the winter, can materially aid the Chamber of Commerce in quickly and satisfactorily locating winter visitors, by addressing the secretary of that body.

HECKLING THE PRESIDENT

A clear distinction should be drawn between the Congressional Union of suffragists, and others who are endeavoring to secure the right of women to vote in all the states of the union.

The first named group might well be called, from their methods, the militant suffragists of the country, although their methods have not in any degree approached the vigorous campaigns carried on by their militant sisters in England, before the European war distracted the attention of the suffragists of that country.

The congressional union seem to think that Mr. Wilson could, by the exercise of his power as president, induce congress to take such action as they deem proper to secure for them and other women the right of suffrage. As a matter of fact, the president has no more power to secure legislation than any other man, except that his high position gives him more consideration than is accorded to the ordinary individual. It is quite certain that he has no power to compel congress to adopt the amendment for which they are striving. He has no more power in that respect than has the chief justice of the supreme court, or the adjutant general of the army.

And yet, we do not learn that they propose to picket the residence of the chief justice or the quarters of the adjutant general of the army to secure congressional action, as they have announced they propose to do with the president.

Healthy minded people will see at once that the suffragists of this stripe are defeating the very cause for which they seem to be so solicitous. The American people will not take it as a joke; they will not sympathize with any movement that has for its object the heckling of the president of the United States, and the suffragists will find that they will lose the support of the very people on whom they must rely, if they are ever to succeed in obtaining what they say they want.

REGULATING THE PEDESTRIAN

Assuming that the new traffic ordinance is in full force and effect, the first day's experience shows that vehicle traffic can be handled on the streets much better than heretofore, and there was really very little confusion in putting the new regulations into operation the first day.

But when it came to pedestrians crossing the street at forbidden places, the average Miamian and his country visitor displayed the fact that it is not generally known that there is now a very drastic ordinance prohibiting the practice.

People crossed Twelfth street from side to side, in droves and flocks, regardless of any regulation to the contrary, showing conclusively that in spite of the efforts to give publicity to the change in methods, many people had not become impressed with the idea that the ordinance was made for them.

Hundreds of people, totally unconscious that they were breaking the law and laying themselves liable to mortifying arrest and possible punishment, walked the streets without restraint of any kind, proving what The Herald said yesterday morning, that it was going to be much more difficult to regulate the individual than it was the machine.

But all in good time, the people will learn that they ought to obey the rules, and the situation will gradually right itself.

In that connection, a suggestion would not be out of place. The block on Twelfth street, between Avenue C and Avenue D is a long one, and if provision were made to mark a crossing about half way in the block, it would be a convenience to many hundreds of people. This could be done by painting two lines across the street between which pedestrians would be permitted to walk.

THAW BREAKS OUT

Prospects that the country is to be treated with another dose of Thaw trials is not a pleasant one to contemplate. The years of litigation following the killing of Stanford White and the subsequent attempts to restore young Thaw to Matteawan, where he had been committed as criminally insane, is still altogether too fresh in the public mind.

It had been hoped that the young man whose sensational life has furnished columns of lurid news for many years, had learned his lesson, but if dispatches are to be relied upon, he has again permitted his singular proclivities to get the best of him.

Whether he is guilty or not of the crime now laid to his charge by the state of New York, an attempt will be made to arrest him and return him to that state for trial. Once within its jurisdiction, there is a possibility that the old Matteawan litigation will be resumed and he be returned to that institution. It was once decided that he could not be extradicted to the state as an escaped lunatic, after he fled from that institution and went to Canada, and then to New Hampshire, where the question was threshed out in the federal court.

In any event, however, we are to witness the spectacle of another attempt on the part of New York to secure his extradition from Pennsylvania, or wherever he may be found, and we may fully expect that that and all other litigation resulting from the present charges will be long drawn out and nauseating, for there are many millions of Thaw money, yet.

What those suffragists propose to do is to interne the president until he comes to their way of thinking, but his term only lasts four years longer.

---

The legal fraternity of Pittsburg, Philadelphia, and New York is preparing for another great advance on the trenches of the Thaw millions.

---

Lady asked the jitney man: "How long will this beautiful weather last?" "I don't know, ma'am," said the jitney man; "I've lived here only six years."

THE WAR

January 11, 1915

Austrians claim important victory over the Russians in Bukowina.

1916

Austrians capture Montenegrin stronghold of Mount Lovichon, strongest fortress of the small kingdoms, from which the Austrian Dalmatian port of Cattaro on the Adriatic had been menaced since the beginning of the war; part of the Montenegrin troops escaped from Montenegrin and Albanian ports, and the fall of the fortress marked the last resistance of Montenegro before its complete subjection to Austro-Teutonic arms.

PALMER, U. S. N.

Commander Leigh C. Palmer, U. S. N., who succeeded Rear Admiral Victor Blue as chief of the U. S. bureau of navigation last August, is 44 years old today.

While serving as chief of navigation, Commander Palmer enjoys the relative rank and pay of a rear admiral. He is considered one of the most promising younger officers of the service.

He was born in Missouri Jan. 11, 1873, graduated from Annapolis in 1896, and served on board the U. S. S. New York, flagship of the North Atlantic fleet, which destroyed the Spanish fleet in the battle of Santiago.

He attained his present rank of commander in July, 1915. The office to which he has been called to replace Rear Admiral Blue is one of the most important in the administrative system of the U. S. navy department.

PROTECT STONECRABS FROM THE TRAPPERS

An addition to the "game" laws of the state of Florida is being proposed, for the sole benefit of stonecrabs.

The practice has been in vogue in some sections of the state of trapping these crabs and shipping them out of the state.

Pinellas county is up in arms against this practice, and the St. Petersburg Independent says:

"Trapping stonecrabs and shipping them outside the state is to be prohibited by act of the legislature if members of the County Board of Trade, in session at Clearwater have their way. The matter of protection for the stonecrabs was brought up at the board meeting and Representative-elect S. D. Harris declared such a law should be passed. The other members of the board agreed with him and favored stopping the use of traps. A law is to be prepared and will be handed to Mr. Harris to be introduced in the legislature. It was stated that the stonecrabs are being wiped out."

NATIONAL PRESS

New York Evening Sun.

That 10,899,890 letters and parcels should go astray in a twelvemonth in the mails of the United States is less surprising than the fact that money, checks, drafts and other valuable papers to the total value of more than $2,250,000 traveled to the dead letter office in them. Americans are supposed to be very keen about getting the worth of their dollars; this is not indicated by such an example of indifference in disposing of them. There may be in this dead letter office record indeed, some hint of a contributing cause to the much bemoaned high cost of living. Most of those who put their valuables into the mails improperly secured were only temporary losers, for the postal authorities found owners for all but about $50,000 worth of the property. But there is not a kindly Uncle Sam to retrieve all of the waste in the kitchen and in the business house. Indeed, we would resent any such governmental tampering with our individual actions, although it might correct one of our notable national traits, carelessness. When we are careless about wasting our natural resources and about maintaining our national safety, no wonder we are careless sometimes about our mail.

PARTY OF TOURISTS IN PULLMAN CARS HEADED FOR MIAMI

A portion of a large excursion due to reach Jacksonville today will come to Miami, according to a story in the Times-Union which says:

"The thirtieth annual tour of the Collver Special will arrive here Thursday morning at 6:30 o'clock from Cleveland, O., over the Queen & Crescent Route and the Southern railway, according to announcement made last night from the passengers offices of the former railroad. The special will bring several hundred tourists to Jacksonville, while part of them will continue to St. Petersburg, St. Augustine and Miami.

"The special will consist of a solid Pullman train of ten cars with special diners. The movement is being operated through from Cleveland and Buffalo. The arrival in Florida of these tourists has become an annual factor and Mr. Collver and his coworkers have many friends in this state who will extend them the usual cordial welcome."

COOLER WEATHER MAY BE LOOKED FOR

Temperatures have been abnormally high over the entire eastern part of the country for several days past, according to information had at the local weather bureau yesterday.

But an end to this condition may be expected almost immediately for a cold wave is sweeping over the United States and soon will reach Florida as well as the other states along the Atlantic seaboard.

It will be somewhat colder here, R. W. Gray, meteorologist at the weather bureau, said. However, the cold in the southern part of the peninsula will not be severe, and indications are favorable to several days of fair and moderately cool weather.

ROTARY CLUB LUNCHEON.

Miami Rotary Club will meet, today, for its regular weekly luncheon and business meeting, at the Gralynn, promptly at one o'clock.

It is expected that one of the leading Rotarians of the country will be present to give pointers on the organization's work elsewhere.

What a Trust Company Is Not

An individual, no matter how many times he has acted as executor, can hardly be expected to offer the equipment and experience of a Trust Company. The Fidelity Bank & Trust Company, for example, is——not tempted to make use of the estate for personal gain,

—not without fire and burglar proof vaults,
—not wanting in ample financial resources.

Individuals seldom have much executorship experience.

WEDDING OF MISS NORMA MACK

Buffalo, N. Y., Jan. 10.—A number of prominent guests from out of town came to Buffalo today to attend the wedding of Miss Norma Emily Mack, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norman E. Mack, and Philip Frederick Metz. The bride-elect, whose father is a Buffalo newspaper publisher and a democratic leader of national prominence, achieved distinction when, last August, she accompanied Lieut. Ira A. Bader, an army aviator, in a flight over Niagara Falls. She was the first of her sex to spiral over the great cataract, and the airplane in which she was riding dipped over the brink of the falls at a speed of nearly 80 miles an hour.

FIRST MORTGAGE

Investment has particularly to do with SERVICE. A wise man said "Service is the insides of business."

Service means more than anything else in a Mortgage house. Service means that your first lien mortgage papers must be properly drawn, all taxes must be paid, your title must be perfect, interest must be collected promptly when due and sent you without cost; fire insurance policies must be promptly renewed and lastly, SERVICE means a careful and efficient conservation of the lender's interest wherever involved. MILLER SERVICE identifies first lien mortgage investment with all the safeguards.

SHOULD BE ADOPTED IN DADE

Grade crossings are one of the banes of the American people. Owing to the very necessities of the case, roads crossing railroads must, by a vast majority of cases, be at grade, and will continue to be until the country is much older and much more settled than it is at present.

Since the days of automobiles began, grade crossing accidents, resulting from a want of care on the part of drivers and from other causes, have multiplied and continue to be a menace to the safety, not only of automobile drivers and passengers, but of railroad property and to passengers on trains.

One of the puzzles of engineers is how to overcome the difficulties attendant on railroad crossings at grade. California has invented a scheme that materially lessens the danger to those crossing railroad tracks on the usual country roads, and Missouri is examining the device with a view to adopting it. There is a possibility that Dade county could lessen many of the dangers of automobile travel, by adopting the same protection, which is simplicity, itself.

In some places in California, where a country road crosses a railroad, the road is widened so as to permit building on each side of the railroad of a wall or cairn, which divides the country road into two, just at that point. This makes a deflection in the road, which compels the automobile driver to slow down, whether he wants to or not. On top of this dividing wall, or cairn, is placed a warning sign, intended to put the auto driver on notice that he is approaching a danger zone.

Imagine a V made of stone, with the wide end toward the railroad and the other pointing toward the way from which the automobile is approaching. Then duplicate this by placing another on the other side of the railroad, and it can readily be seen how the deflection in the road would compel the automobilist to approach the crossing slowly, and which with the warning, would enable him to stop, look and listen, before he attempted to cross the tracks.

The beauty of the California scheme is that it can be put into effect without great cost, for the wall can be made of the rudest stone, which, in this county, is abundant and cheap, and that it compels attention on the part of the automobilist.

NOT TOO LATE TO CHANGE ORDER

Nothing is settled until it is settled right, and it is to be presumed that any action of the city council will be cheerfully changed if that body is convinced that an improvement can be made on an order entered by the council, if conditions change and the people desire some other arrangement than that once decided upon.

Action by the North Miami Improvement Association as to the location of the street railway, above Wadell street, construction upon which must be commenced soon, was timely and in general accord with the wishes of a large number of people.

At present the expectation is that the railway must be continued on Biscayne Drive, unless the council sees its way clear to making a change.

The argument against the use of Biscayne Drive for street railway purposes, is that it is the ending of the Dixie Highway and of the Montreal to Miami Highway, and is the only entrance to the city for the great highways from the north. Instead of being restricted by street car rails, it ought to be widened and made a boulevard, of which the city could be proud. It ought to be lined with stately trees and beautiful foliage.. It ought to be well paved and smooth. It ought to be a broad thoroughfare, with nothing to impede the traffic into and out of the city. It ought to be Miami's first and best introduction to the tourist who comes to the city by automobile.

A street railway upon that street, which ought to be a splendid one, would disfigure it and render it less a part of the great highways of which it ought to be a delightful portion.

If the lines are changed to Avenue D, a larger number of people will be accommodated, a larger territory will be developed and it will reach directly into a territory that will be developed by the railroad company, when it begins the work of creating a new railroad center at Buena Vista.

There is time for the council to change its order in respect to the construction of the street railroad north of Wadell street, and it should give careful consideration to the arguments of those who want the line changed from Biscayne Drive.

Better follow the regular crossings or the policeman will get you, if you don't watch out.

---

House owners who have furnished room which they can spare for the winter, can materially aid the Chamber of Commerce in quickly and satisfactorily locating winter visitors, by addressing the secretary of that body.

HECKLING THE PRESIDENT

A clear distinction should be drawn between the Congressional Union of suffragists, and others who are endeavoring to secure the right of women to vote in all the states of the union.

The first named group might well be called, from their methods, the militant suffragists of the country, although their methods have not in any degree approached the vigorous campaigns carried on by their militant sisters in England, before the European war distracted the attention of the suffragists of that country.

The congressional union seem to think that Mr. Wilson could, by the exercise of his power as president, induce congress to take such action as they deem proper to secure for them and other women the right of suffrage. As a matter of fact, the president has no more power to secure legislation than any other man, except that his high position gives him more consideration than is accorded to the ordinary individual. It is quite certain that he has no power to compel congress to adopt the amendment for which they are striving. He has no more power in that respect than has the chief justice of the supreme court, or the adjutant general of the army.

And yet, we do not learn that they propose to picket the residence of the chief justice or the quarters of the adjutant general of the army to secure congressional action, as they have announced they propose to do with the president.

Healthy minded people will see at once that the suffragists of this stripe are defeating the very cause for which they seem to be so solicitous. The American people will not take it as a joke; they will not sympathize with any movement that has for its object the heckling of the president of the United States, and the suffragists will find that they will lose the support of the very people on whom they must rely, if they are ever to succeed in obtaining what they say they want.

REGULATING THE PEDESTRIAN

Assuming that the new traffic ordinance is in full force and effect, the first day's experience shows that vehicle traffic can be handled on the streets much better than heretofore, and there was really very little confusion in putting the new regulations into operation the first day.

But when it came to pedestrians crossing the street at forbidden places, the average Miamian and his country visitor displayed the fact that it is not generally known that there is now a very drastic ordinance prohibiting the practice.

People crossed Twelfth street from side to side, in droves and flocks, regardless of any regulation to the contrary, showing conclusively that in spite of the efforts to give publicity to the change in methods, many people had not become impressed with the idea that the ordinance was made for them.

Hundreds of people, totally unconscious that they were breaking the law and laying themselves liable to mortifying arrest and possible punishment, walked the streets without restraint of any kind, proving what The Herald said yesterday morning, that it was going to be much more difficult to regulate the individual than it was the machine.

But all in good time, the people will learn that they ought to obey the rules, and the situation will gradually right itself.

In that connection, a suggestion would not be out of place. The block on Twelfth street, between Avenue C and Avenue D is a long one, and if provision were made to mark a crossing about half way in the block, it would be a convenience to many hundreds of people. This could be done by painting two lines across the street between which pedestrians would be permitted to walk.

THAW BREAKS OUT

Prospects that the country is to be treated with another dose of Thaw trials is not a pleasant one to contemplate. The years of litigation following the killing of Stanford White and the subsequent attempts to restore young Thaw to Matteawan, where he had been committed as criminally insane, is still altogether too fresh in the public mind.

It had been hoped that the young man whose sensational life has furnished columns of lurid news for many years, had learned his lesson, but if dispatches are to be relied upon, he has again permitted his singular proclivities to get the best of him.

Whether he is guilty or not of the crime now laid to his charge by the state of New York, an attempt will be made to arrest him and return him to that state for trial. Once within its jurisdiction, there is a possibility that the old Matteawan litigation will be resumed and he be returned to that institution. It was once decided that he could not be extradicted to the state as an escaped lunatic, after he fled from that institution and went to Canada, and then to New Hampshire, where the question was threshed out in the federal court.

In any event, however, we are to witness the spectacle of another attempt on the part of New York to secure his extradition from Pennsylvania, or wherever he may be found, and we may fully expect that that and all other litigation resulting from the present charges will be long drawn out and nauseating, for there are many millions of Thaw money, yet.

What those suffragists propose to do is to interne the president until he comes to their way of thinking, but his term only lasts four years longer.

---

---

Lady asked the jitney man: "How long will this beautiful weather last?" "I don't know, ma'am," said the jitney man; "I've lived here only six years."

ST. JOHN'S PARK

Leave Twelfth street at the bridge and go up North River Drive and immediately after passing through the Golf Links, you will enter ST. JOHN'S PARK. The streets were finished yesterday, and you are welcome to inspect this beautiful residential section. Your broker has new maps and will be delighted to tell you what is going to be done in ST. JOHN'S PARK. ¶ We are after tourists who want to build in a restricted place. No lots will be sold to investors, unless they first build a home in ST. JOHN'S PARK. No house will be allowed to be built costing less than $2,500. The 80-foot boulevards are completed, and sewer, water, lights and uniform sidewalks will all be installiled without cost to the purchaser.

There are twelve river front lots for sale, 100 feet front, 400 feet deep, having an 80-foot boulevard on the back, and will be sold with an $8,000 restriction, for $50.00 per front foot.

Is There Any Other Place In Miami

where you can buy water fronts within one and a half miles of Twelfth Street and Avenue D for $50.00 per front foot. TO THE YACHTSMAN, what would be nicer than a home on Miami River with 100 feet of river front belonging to him on which he could build a boat house and run his yacht right into it as one would an automobile, and lock it up, and have it in sweet water and away from any wind and storms? If you buy on the Bay, you pay more for your lot than it will cost you for your house and lot in St. John's Park. Your boat anchored in the Bay in case of storm, might be in the Ten Thousand Isles tomorrow. Besides, you will have to anchor away from shore and use a dingey anywhere else, excepting in Miami river

To the Man and Woman of Past Fifty Years

who want to come to this climate away from the cold winters; we want you to inspect ST. JOHN'S PARK. You can buy a beautiful lot for as low as $750nd on that lot you can have erected a beautiful bungalow for around $3,000 and you have a home to come to, and you will not have to worry each year about what kind of an apartment you will get and how much you will have to pay. In the spring when you leave, the owner of ST. JOHN'S PARK will take the key to your home, and air it once a week and see that nothing is molested.

If you go north the same distance from Twelfth Street and Avenue D, you would land at Edgewater. If you go east the same distance, you would not reach the toll station on the bridge. If you would go south the same distance, you would not reach the late Commodore Roome's home. If you go west, you would get to the street car barns. Being on the north side of Miami River, you are a part of the main Miami. There is only room in ST. JOHN'S PARK for fifty-two homes. ¶ The St. John's Construction Company will build you a house and give you the key, ready to step into it, within sixty days. This would give you something of interest of your own to watch while you are spending this winter in Miami.

ST. JOHN'S PARK

Leave Twelfth street at the bridge and go up North River Drive and immediately after passing through the Golf Links, you will enter ST. JOHN'S PARK. The streets were finished yesterday, and you are welcome to inspect this beautiful residential section. Your broker has new maps and will be delighted to tell you what is going to be done in ST. JOHN'S PARK. ¶ We are after tourists who want to build in a restricted place. No lots will be sold to investors, unless they first build a home in ST. JOHN'S PARK. No house will be allowed to be built costing less than $2,500. The 80-foot boulevards are completed, and sewer, water, lights and uniform sidewalks will all be installled without cost to the purchaser.

There are twelve river front lots for sale, 100 feet front, 400 feet deep, having an 80-foot boulevard on the back, and will be sold with an $8,000 restriction, for $50.00 per front foot.

Is There Any Other Place In Miami

where you can buy water fronts within one and a half miles of Twelfth Street and Avenue D for $50.00 per front foot. TO THE YACHTSMAN, what would be nicer than a home on Miami River with 100 feet of river front belonging to him on which he could build a boat house and run his yacht right into it as one would an automobile, and lock it up, and have it in sweet water and away from any wind and storms? If you buy on the Bay, you pay more for your lot than it will cost you for your house and lot in St. John's Park. # BASEBALL CHATTER FOR THE STOVEPIPE LEAGUE

(By H. H. Diddlebock.)

George Tebeau, owner of the Kansas City Blues, one of the most valuable baseball properties in the American association, came to Miami on board his yacht Doozie, Captain C. T. Howar, and will spend some time in the south, cruising around the keys and fishing.

Tebeau will be remembered by the older generation of fans, as one of the great players of his time, and while he was with Washington and Cleveland he was a terror to pitchers, for he was one of those fellows who stood up to the plate and banged the good ones to the fences.

He was what they call fence busters today, and when he was in the big show there were few pitchers who would take any liberties with him.

It was back in 1894 that Tebeau joined the Washington team, playing first base and in the outfield, and the next year he went to Cleveland, where he stayed for five years, or until 1899, from where he went in 1900, with Tom Loftus, to Columbus in the Western league, which was organized that year by them.

In 1900 Tebeau went to Denver and won the championship there and the following year with a star aggregation he again won first place for the Kansas City team.

Since that time the Blues have not finished in the money, but they have always been dangerous contenders and are well supported by the fans in the western state, being one of the best drawing cards in the state.

Pat Tebeau, a brother of George, was also a star in fast company. In 1886 he played with the St. Joseph team and in 1888 he was with Chicago playing with such great players as Pfeiffer, Williamson and Brown, with old Cap Anson as the leader.

Those were the days when a ballplayer in order to get by had to be able and willing to fight for his rights and a weakling did not have much chance of lasting for a very long time. Every day when the players started for the park they knew that it meant a strenuous scrap from start to finish and they were ready for it.

The game had not developed into the finished article that is offered today, but it was real baseball just the same, with the advantage on the side of the husky teams, for the fellows that could bang the pill the furtherest usually came out on top.

No-hit games were unheard of and the box scores show that two-baggers, triples and home-runs were not the exception, but the rule.

Mr. Tebeau spoke freely about the rumor of a ballplayers' strike and said that he did not think it amounted to anything. He said that he thought the players were being overpaid and that there is not a doubt but that it is necessary for the magnates to cut down salaries and retrench.

It is ridiculous, he said, for the clubs to pay men fifteen and eighteen thousand dollars a year, as some have been doing, for their services, for the best player in the country, in his estimation, is not worth anything like that amount.

As for the baseball players' fraternity and David Fultz, its president, Mr. Tebeau did not say much. When questioned, he merely grinned and shook his head and intimated that it was hardly worth the space devoted to it by the newspapers.

Jack Barry, who will manage the Boston team this year, was brought into the talk, and Mr. Tebeau expressed the opinion that he would develop into a capable manager. Barry is a pugnacious chap with a wide knowledge of baseball and is determined enough to see that his orders are carried out. His tuition under Connie Mack will prove a valuable asset, Mr. Tebeau thought, and he looks for the former Mackman to make at least a good showing.

Mr. Tebeau will make an effort to be in town when the Boston Braves arrive on March 4 for he has many friends among the players and officials of the team.

SABALO BACK IN MIAMI

W. Earl Dodge's Magnificent New Yacht Is Now At the Terminal Dock

W. Earl Dodge's magnificent new yacht Sabalo, returned to port yesterday afternoon, and is at anchor in the turning basin at the Florida East Coast railway terminal dock. Mr. Dodge has been on a cruise to Nassau and other points.

As has been recently stated in these columns, the Sabalo is 140 feet long, has a tewnty foot beam and draws seven feet of water. The vessel is equipped with three 300-horsepower Speedway motors which will give her a speed of seventeen miles per hour.

Designed by Tams, Lemoine and Crane and built by George Lawley, she is said to be one of the finest pleasure yachts in the country.

The yacht is of the modified torpedo-boat destroyer type which has become very popular with yacht owners and is said to be the largest motor yacht afloat. She has a plumb stern and raised forecastle deck, and in construction and detail, is regarded as a high type of a vessel.

Nothing in the way of comfort has been overlooked by the designer of the Sabalo, for a 1-ton ice machine has been installed, together with a large refrigerator that will suffice for long voyages lasting into months. The vessel has a gasoline capacity for 9,000 gallons.

A twenty-one foot launch, a sixteen foot crews launch and motor dingy and a twenty-two foot Seabright dory also go to make up the equipment of the yacht.

The owner's quarters have not been overlooked by the designer for forty feet in the afterpart and fifteen feet in the forward part of the vessel are taken up for this purpose while the furnishings are the very best that money can buy.

The dining salon is 10 by 14 feet in size which is finished in colonial style, the chairs, table and other furnishings having been specially designed.

Mr. Dodge is a member of the New York Yacht Club and his new yacht will be quite an addition to this fleet on the occasion of the annual cruise next summer.

Prof. A. U. Eslick, the popular and efficient band leader of the Kennedy shows, is well known in Miami, and came mighty near being a resident here. Not long ago he was negotiating with local people to take charge of the band here, but the deal was never consumated. Prof. Eslick is a clever director and an excellent musician. He has had the Kennedy band for eleven years and is very popular with the show folks. His wife and son are here with him.

DADE NOT REPRESENTED AT TAMPA'S BIG FAIR

Owing to the distance by rail between the two cities and the roundabout way necessary to ship vegetables and fruits to the west coast from the east coast, Miami will have no exhibit at the south Florida fair to be given at Tampa February 2 to 10.

The question of exhibiting at the south Florida fair has been considered by the directors of the Miami Chamber of Commerce, and they agreed that it would be impossible to ship fresh vegetables from this part of the state and have them reach their destination in a presentable condition.

Nor would it be doing Dade county justice to ship over to the west coast only a few fruits when the counties on the west coast would be able to make a better showing because of their proximity to the city where the fair is to be held.

However, Miami will be represented indirectly, since Moore Haven, on the shores of Lake Okeechobee, will have an exhibit. Miami feels a sort of proprietary interest in Moore Haven as the South Florida Farms company, owners of the Moore Haven tract, make their headquarters in this city.

Ten More Reasons Why You Should Buy Lots at Moore Haven

1st. It takes the best property to attract the best people. Moore Haven is a gilt edge proposition and is appealing to people of intelligence and sterling worth wherever they are found.

2nd. Moore Haven is on the west side of Lake Okeechobee and the land is now ready for immediate cultivation.

3rd. A canal is now being constructed across the lower peninsula from the Atlantic to the Gulf, passing through Moore Haven, which is the only feasible point on the whole west coast of Lake Okeechobee for such a canal.

4th. Land is the basis of all value—it is absolutely the only thing which will produce the means to sustain life. Moore Haven lies in the very midst of the richest body of land in the known world, and its future is an assured fact.

5th. The foundation of some of the largest fortunes in the world has been laid in buying land and town property while low in price and letting it grow in value. Lots are still cheap at Moore Haven, but in the very nature of the case they cannot stay at their present prices. Buy today and you will be glad every day afterward.

6th. RAILROAD COMING. Transportation is one of the great questions to consider when investing in any new country. With deep water already an accomplished fact for Moore Haven and the Atlantic Coast Line pushing its lines to this point as fast as money and men can do it, you can readily see that here is bound to occur one of those rare and wonderful city developments which increase values many fold.

7th. With good health as one of the natural assets of the Moore Haven section, with a soil of unsurpassed richness, and with a climate of such wonderful quality many settlers are daily crowding into Moore Haven.

8th. Whether you are looking for a lot location from the standpoint of a profitable investment—of good neighbors—good school and church privileges—wealth, health, happiness or a home—you find them all at Moore Haven.

9th. Nothing succeeds like success, and it is a safe index to business success to follow leaders. Some of the busiest, brainiest and best men of Miami are investing in Moore Haven Property.

10th. There is always a psychological moment in every great question. That time has arrived now for you regarding Moore Haven.

RICE AND ALDERMAN TRIAL SET FOR MONDAY THE 22ND

Men Implicated In Homestead Bank Robbery and Indicted For Murder

The trials of Frank Rice and Hugh Alderman, who were indicted for murder in the first degree by the last grand jury, for the killing of the two Henderson brothers and Charles Williams, the three members of the sheriff's posse at Everglade tank, on September 15 last, have been set for Monday, January 22.

This decision was arrived at yesterday by Circuit Court Judge H. Pierre Branning and State's Attorney John C. Gramling and subpoenas have been issued for the state's witnesses who will be summoned to appear on that date.

Rice and Alderman are the surviving members of the gang that robbed the bank of Homestead of several thousand dollars on the afternoon of September 15 last. While endeavoring to pass the posse organized by the then Sheriff Dan Hardie at Everglade tank shortly after midnight, on September 17, the men are alleged to have exchanged shots with the officers and three members of the posse were fatally injured.

The two Henderson brothers were killed, almost instantly, while Williams, the third man who was shot, died the following day.

The men made their escape from the officers at the time, but were apprehended at Chokoloskee, an island on the west coast, several days later, and two members of the party lost their lives. These were Leland Rice, who was shot by a fisherman, and James Tucker, who was drowned while trying to escape from the men who were pursuing him.

Frank Rice, who was badly wounded, was taken to Fort Myers, where he laid for several days at the point of death, while Hugh Alderman, who gave himself up, was brought at once to this city, Rice following, when his condition permitted.

The relatives of both men have retained Judge George A. Worley to defend them and a strong effort will be made to acquit them of the murder charge that is pending against them.

This is the only murder case that has been mentioned at the present term of the circuit court, although it is expected that the Bolton murder case will come up for trial this month.

The grand jury began its deliberations yesterday and it is expected that a true bill will soon be handed down against Clarence C. McKinney, the negro, who fired the fatal shot at the aged clergyman.

Six civil cases were disposed of by Judge Branning at yesterday's session of the court. Judgments for the plaintiffs were ordered in the case of the Sahlktromska Fabrikens Aktielolog against Robert Sjostrom, et al., and the Miami Bank & Trust company vs. Harlan Trapp.

In the case of E. W. Ostott and Abbie Miller Ostott, his wife, et al., vs. C. J. Dulbs, a jury rendered a verdict for the plaintiff.

The case of H. H. Reifenberg vs. the Fidelity Deposit company of Maryland vs. W. E. Martin was nonsuited.

In the case of Ellen Ayre and Fred Ayre, her husband, vs. H. Z. Audette, a jury rendered a verdict in favor of the plaintiff in the sum of $150 and costs of court.

The court denied a motion for a change of venue in the case of J. S. Murphy vs. Griffing Brothers.

PUT CREAM IN NOSE AND STOP CATARRH

Tells How to Open Clogged Nostrils and End Head-Colds

You feel fine in a few moments. Your cold in head or catarrh will be gone. Your clogged nostrils will open. The air passages of your head will clear and you can breathe freely. No more dullness, headache; no hawking, snuffling, mucous discharges or dryness; no struggling for breath at night.

Tell your druggist you want a small bottle of Ely's Cream Balm. Apply a little of this fragrant, antiseptic cream in your nostrils, let it penetrate through every air passage of the head; soothe and heal the swollen, inflamed mucous membrane and relief comes instantly.

It is just what every cold and catarrh sufferer needs. Don't stay stuffed up and miserable.

CARNIVAL NOTES.

Miss Alyene Everson, the attractive young lady who sings from the platform of the Society Horse show, has an exceptionally powerful and sweet soprano voice. She is known as the "California Nightingale" and the title is a very appropriate one.

There are four generations of the Turner family here with the Con T. Kennedy shows. Doc Turner's mother is in the nineties, Doc Turner will not make a positive statement, but has seen sixty years, his wife and daughter are with him, and also his beautiful little grandchild, Marguerite, five years of age.

Miss Hody Hurd, one of the excellent performers with the Miracle show, was born in the business, as her mother and father were with a carnival when the little lady came into this world. Miss Hurd calls the south her home, as her father and mother now live in Atlanta, Ga., and two of her sisters reside in Tampa, Fla.

Will G. Jones, owner and manager of the Autodrome, is one of the best known talkers with the Kennedy show. He has been in the business for a number of years, has occupied many different positions, has had a world of experience, and has developed a personality that makes everyone like him.

Mrs. Con T. Kennedy and her two sisters, Jane and Grace Snyder, go over to the beach every morning and enjoy a plunge in the ocean. They are rapidly learning to swim, and before the show leaves Miami will be experts, as they love the water and are not afraid.

Nothing in the way of comfort has been overlooked by the designer of the Sabalo, for a 1-ton ice machine has been installed, together with a large refrigerator that will suffice for long voyages lasting into months. The vessel has a gasoline capacity for 9,000 gallons.

A twenty-one foot launch, a sixteen foot crews launch and motor dingy and a twenty-two foot Seabright dory also go to make up the equipment of the yacht.

The owner's quarters have not been overlooked by the designer for forty feet in the afterpart and fifteen feet in the forward part of the vessel are taken up for this purpose while the furnishings are the very best that money can buy.

The dining salon is 10 by 14 feet in size which is finished in colonial style, the chairs, table and other furnishings having been specially designed.

Mr. Dodge is a member of the New York Yacht Club and his new yacht will be quite an addition to this fleet on the occasion of the annual cruise next summer.

Prof. A. U. Eslick, the popular and efficient band leader of the Kennedy shows, is well known in Miami, and came mighty near being a resident here. Not long ago he was negotiating with local people to take charge of the band here, but the deal was never consumated. Prof. Eslick is a clever director and an excellent musician. He has had the Kennedy band for eleven years and is very popular with the show folks. His wife and son are here with him.

DADE NOT REPRESENTED AT TAMPA'S BIG FAIR

Owing to the distance by rail between the two cities and the roundabout way necessary to ship vegetables and fruits to the west coast from the east coast, Miami will have no exhibit at the south Florida fair to be given at Tampa February 2 to 10.

The question of exhibiting at the south Florida fair has been considered by the directors of the Miami Chamber of Commerce, and they agreed that it would be impossible to ship fresh vegetables from this part of the state and have them reach their destination in a presentable condition.

Nor would it be doing Dade county justice to ship over to the west coast only a few fruits when the counties on the west coast would be able to make a better showing because of their proximity to the city where the fair is to be held.

However, Miami will be represented indirectly, since Moore Haven, on the shores of Lake Okeechobee, will have an exhibit. Miami feels a sort of proprietary interest in Moore Haven as the South Florida Farms company, owners of the Moore Haven tract, make their headquarters in this city.

Ten More Reasons Why You Should Buy Lots at Moore Haven

1st. It takes the best property to attract the best people. Moore Haven is a gilt edge proposition and is appealing to people of intelligence and sterling worth wherever they are found.

2nd. Moore Haven is on the west side of Lake Okeechobee and the land is now ready for immediate cultivation.

3rd. A canal is now being constructed across the lower peninsula from the Atlantic to the Gulf, passing through Moore Haven, which is the only feasible point on the whole west coast of Lake Okeechobee for such a canal.

4th. Land is the basis of all value—it is absolutely the only thing which will produce the means to sustain life. Moore Haven lies in the very midst of the richest body of land in the known world, and its future is an assured fact.

5th. The foundation of some of the largest fortunes in the world has been laid in buying land and town property while low in price and letting it grow in value. Lots are still cheap at Moore Haven, but in the very nature of the case they cannot stay at their present prices. Buy today and you will be glad every day afterward.

6th. RAILROAD COMING. Transportation is one of the great questions to consider when investing in any new country. With deep water already an accomplished fact for Moore Haven and the Atlantic Coast Line pushing its lines to this point as fast as money and men can do it, you can readily see that here is bound to occur one of those rare and wonderful city developments which increase values many fold.

8th. Whether you are looking for a lot location from the standpoint of a profitable investment—of good neighbors—good school and church privileges—wealth, health, happiness or a home—you find them all at Moore Haven.

9th. Nothing succeeds like success, and it is a safe index to business success to follow leaders. Some of the busiest, brainiest and best men of Miami are investing in Moore Haven Property.

10th. There is always a psychological moment in every great question. That time has arrived now for you regarding Moore Haven.

RICE AND ALDERMAN TRIAL SET FOR MONDAY THE 22ND

Men Implicated In Homestead Bank Robbery and Indicted For Murder

The trials of Frank Rice and Hugh Alderman, who were indicted for murder in the first degree by the last grand jury, for the killing of the two Henderson brothers and Charles Williams, the three members of the sheriff's posse at Everglade tank, on September 15 last, have been set for Monday, January 22.

This decision was arrived at yesterday by Circuit Court Judge H. Pierre Branning and State's Attorney John C. Gramling and subpoenas have been issued for the state's witnesses who will be summoned to appear on that date.

Rice and Alderman are the surviving members of the gang that robbed the bank of Homestead of several thousand dollars on the afternoon of September 15 last. While endeavoring to pass the posse organized by the then Sheriff Dan Hardie at Everglade tank shortly after midnight, on September 17, the men are alleged to have exchanged shots with the officers and three members of the posse were fatally injured.

The two Henderson brothers were killed, almost instantly, while Williams, the third man who was shot, died the following day.

The men made their escape from the officers at the time, but were apprehended at Chokoloskee, an island on the west coast, several days later, and two members of the party lost their lives. These were Leland Rice, who was shot by a fisherman, and James Tucker, who was drowned while trying to escape from the men who were pursuing him.

Frank Rice, who was badly wounded, was taken to Fort Myers, where he laid for several days at the point of death, while Hugh Alderman, who gave himself up, was brought at once to this city, Rice following, when his condition permitted.

The relatives of both men have retained Judge George A. Worley to defend them and a strong effort will be made to acquit them of the murder charge that is pending against them.

This is the only murder case that has been mentioned at the present term of the circuit court, although it is expected that the Bolton murder case will come up for trial this month.

The grand jury began its deliberations yesterday and it is expected that a true bill will soon be handed down against Clarence C. McKinney, the negro, who fired the fatal shot at the aged clergyman.

Six civil cases were disposed of by Judge Branning at yesterday's session of the court. Judgments for the plaintiffs were ordered in the case of the Sahlktromska Fabrikens Aktielolog against Robert Sjostrom, et al., and the Miami Bank & Trust company vs. Harlan Trapp.

In the case of E. W. Ostott and Abbie Miller Ostott, his wife, et al., vs. C. J. Dulbs, a jury rendered a verdict for the plaintiff.

The case of H. H. Reifenberg vs. the Fidelity Deposit company of Maryland vs. W. E. Martin was nonsuited.

In the case of Ellen Ayre and Fred Ayre, her husband, vs. H. Z. Audette, a jury rendered a verdict in favor of the plaintiff in the sum of $150 and costs of court.

The court denied a motion for a change of venue in the case of J. S. Murphy vs. Griffing Brothers.

Tells How to Open Clogged Nostrils and End Head-Colds

You feel fine in a few moments. Your cold in head or catarrh will be gone. Your clogged nostrils will open. The air passages of your head will clear and you can breathe freely. No more dullness, headache; no hawking, snuffling, mucous discharges or dryness; no struggling for breath at night.

Tell your druggist you want a small bottle of Ely's Cream Balm. Apply a little of this fragrant, antiseptic cream in your nostrils, let it penetrate through every air passage of the head; soothe and heal the swollen, inflamed mucous membrane and relief comes instantly.

It is just what every cold and catarrh sufferer needs. Don't stay stuffed up and miserable.

CARNIVAL NOTES.

Miss Alyene Everson, the attractive young lady who sings from the platform of the Society Horse show, has an exceptionally powerful and sweet soprano voice. She is known as the "California Nightingale" and the title is a very appropriate one.

There are four generations of the Turner family here with the Con T. Kennedy shows. Doc Turner's mother is in the nineties, Doc Turner will not make a positive statement, but has seen sixty years, his wife and daughter are with him, and also his beautiful little grandchild, Marguerite, five years of age.

Miss Hody Hurd, one of the excellent performers with the Miracle show, was born in the business, as her mother and father were with a carnival when the little lady came into this world. Miss Hurd calls the south her home, as her father and mother now live in Atlanta, Ga., and two of her sisters reside in Tampa, Fla.

Will G. Jones, owner and manager of the Autodrome, is one of the best known talkers with the Kennedy show. He has been in the business for a number of years, has occupied many different positions, has had a world of experience, and has developed a personality that makes everyone like him.

Mrs. Con T. Kennedy and her two sisters, Jane and Grace Snyder, go over to the beach every morning and enjoy a plunge in the ocean. They are rapidly learning to swim, and before the show leaves Miami will be experts, as they love the water and are not afraid.

POLITICAL SUPREMECY BY WOMEN

Suffrage Declares Franchise Would Clinch Power of White Race in South

(Special to The Herald.)

Washington, Jan. 9.—The granting of suffrage to women in the southern states will clinch the political supremacy of the white race. This is the special argument which southern women will advance in the legislatures of the twelve southern states in which bills for presidential suffrage, modelled after the Illinois equal suffrage statues, will be introduced this winter.

In four southern states, Virginia, Kentucky, Tennessee and Texas, the number of white women exceeds the whole negro population. In six stats, Alabama, Arkansas, North Carolina, Louisiana, and Georgia, woman suffrage would tremendously increase the preponderance of white votes; in Mississippi and South Carolina, where the negro population exceeds the white, equal suffrage would double the intelligent electorate.

These are the claims made by the National American Woman Suffrage Association in behalf of suffrage for women.

Not only would suffrage give white control in these states a more permanent footing now, but, it is pointed out by southern women, that white supremacy will grow with the years because the increase of white population is more rapid than the increase of negro population. The official estimates for population in 1916, published by the census bureau, show that white population in twelve southern states has increased 10.8 per cent in the last seven years, while the negro population has increased only 5.6 per cent.

Walter E. Clark, chief justice of the supreme court of North Carolina, has endorsed equal suffrage in the south as an essential to white supremacy. Thoroughly familiar with conditions in the south, he advocates equal suffrage on precisely the same grounds that the bill for presidential suffrage will be urged.

"It can be confidently relied upon that the more intelligent people will vote and that the less intelligent will not," said Senator Robert L. Owen of Oklahoma today. "The assertion that the weak vicious woman will vote while the intelligent women will not is utterly fallacious. That was proved beyond doubt in the last election.

"Equal suffrage in the south will strengthen white supremacy, because the white women of the south are intelligent and educated and can be depended upon properly to exercise the right to vote if it is given to them.

"The south has been the backbone of democracy. It should not forget that the national democracy owes its last victory to the votes of the intelligent women of the west. That fact should count in the south."

Among the southern women who will be active in urging the passage of the several presidential suffrage bills are: Miss Mary Henderson, Chapel Hill, N. C.; Mrs. C. M. Platt, Asheville; Miss Pauline V. Orr, Columbus, Miss.; B. B. Valentine, Richmond; Mr. Pattie Ruffner Jacobs, of Alabama; Mr. John H. Lewis, Lynchburg; Mrs. C. H. Collier, Selma, Ala.; Mrs. Julian B. Parke, Selma, Ala., and Mrs. A. B. Singletary, Baton Rogue, La.

Meager Savings of Chicago Street Car Man Went Into Realty.

Chicago.—Henry Torborg died here today, leaving a fortune of one-half million dollars, most of it accumulated during the last forty years while conductor on a street car of the Blue Island Avenue line. He was 73 years old and died while at work.

Torborg came to Chicago a young man and invested his savings in real estate. He got a job with the street car company, continued to save and to invest in outlying property. The growth of the city to a population of two and one-half million tells the story of the growth of his fortune. Two sons inherit the fortune. Torborg had a number of sayings:

"Good spenders may be good fellows, but a bank account needs no friends."

"Never pay for having work done that you can do yourself."

"Make your vacations pile up your dividends."

"The man who stops work is like the old mill out of use; he falls to pieces."

FEEDING HOGS ON PEANUTS

Firm Flesh and Good Profits From The Use of This Especial Forage

(Special to The Herald.)

Washington, Jan. 10.—The peanut, sometimes called "goober," is beginning to play an important part in the feeding of hogs in the southern states. Experiments conducted under supervision of the agents of the department of agriculture throughout the south, at the North Carolina Agricultural College, the Texas Agricultural College, and the Texas Experiment station have demonstrated that the peanuts can eb raised at a very low cost and will fatten hogs very quickly.

"It is very unlikely that the southern farmers will find a more profitable method of disposing of peanuts than by feeding them to hogs and finishing the hogs on other feeds to harden the flesh," says a bulletin on the subject issued by the department of agriculture.

The underground nuts are usually harvested by turning hogs into the field when the nuts are ripe, allowing them to do the harvesting.

Meat packers have questioned the quality of the meat from peanut-fed hogs. Examination of the flesh of hogs fed exclusively on peanuts and succulent feed shows that it is not quite so firm in texture as corn-fed pork, and the shrinkage is somewhat greater. It is therefore advisable for the farmer to use some feeds which have a tendency to harden the flesh before slaughtering time. Corn is so high just now it is not considered economical for that purpose.

In some of the southern states farmers have turned their attention to the use of sweet potatoes, velvet beans, and cowpeas for this purpose.

In order to determine accurately the feeding of peanuts for hogs, the Texas Experiment station conducted a test in 1908 in which six pigs averaging 43 pounds at the start were fed exclusively on Spanish peanuts for 91 days, the nuts being separated from the vines in order to ascertain definitely the quantity fed. The results of this test show that the quantity of peanuts required per 100 pounds of gain in live weight was only 296 1-2 pounds. This remarkable good showing is emphasized further when we consider that the average results of tests at nine different stations in the United States show that 537 pounds of shelled corn were required to produce 100 pounds of gain, and that in no instance was less than 479 pounds required.

According to the foregoing figures, an acre of Spanish peanuts of a yield of 40 bushels, allowing 30 pounds to the bushel, would produce approximately 405 pounds of pork which, if valued at 7 cents a pound, would amount to $28.35.

Many of the oil mills throughout the south have been equipped to crush peanuts so it is now possible to buy peanut meal and cake.

There has been a widespread demand to know if the meat of hogs fattened on peanut cake or meal, would be firm, hard, and free from the objections that are made to meat produced by feeding the whole peanut. To answer this question intelligently the authorities at North Carolina Agricultural College conducted experiments and obtained very interesting results.

Prof Dan T. Gray, of the North Carolina College states that hogs fattened on peanuts meal made satisfactory gains and that their meat was not soft. Hogs fattened on peanut meal will be acecpted by the packer as hard flesh, whereas, from hogs fattened on peanuts the packer will deduct 1 1-2 cents per pound on account of soft flesh. In some places mills are offering peanut meal for peanuts, pound for pound. The farmers can well afford to make this exchange for the meal will add 1 1-2 cents a pound to the value of the pork, less the cost of harvesting the peanuts, as compared with the peanuts fed whole.

THE TOAD FINDS A FRIEND

The Island of Guam Wants Him as a Snail Destroyer.

The government of Guam a few days ago asked the navy department to send ten toads, and the navy department, having not so much as a tadpole, passed the request on to the department of agriculture.

This is perhaps the first official invitation ever extended to the bufonidae and would indicate that the family is climbing up. It suffered for centuries under Shakespeare's censure "ugly and venomous," a slander which, it appears, he did not take the trouble to investigate, but accepted on the word of one Dr. Lupton.

The toad is invited with its whole family and all of its belongings to settle down upon this little Pacific island. It is expected to engage in agriculture, its special mission being to eat the snails that are causing na epidemic among the cattle. The bigger the appetite of the toad the better, a qualification exactly the opposite asked of the ordinary farmhand.

But several years ago American agriculturists discovered the value of the toad and began protecting it. Every garden now has its master toad and group of assistants just as it has rose bushes and other flowering plants. The supply is scarcely equal to the demand, for while the grown toad has only one enemy, the snake, the eggs are destroyed by all kings of creatures, newts, turtles, birds and fish. Each toad is thus the survivor of a regiment of tadpoles.

It is feared that, as much as the department of agriculture would like to help Guam, it will be unable to do so in this particular. This country needs its toads.—New York Sun.

GIANT WOLVES OF THE SEA

Ruthless Killer Whales Swim in Ranks Like Well-Trained Soldiers.

The killer whale usually travels and hunts in "schools" or packs of from three to a dozen or more individuals. Unlike most whales, the members of these schools do not travel in a straggling party, but swim side by side, their movements as regularly timed as those of soldiers. A regularly spaced row of advancing long black fins swiftly cutting the undulaitng surface of the sea produces a singularly sinister effect. The evil impression is well justified, since killers are the most savage and remorseless of whales. The jaws are armed with rows of effective teeth, with which the animals attack and devour seals and porpoises and even destroy some of the larger whales..

Killers are like giant wolves of the sea, and their ferocity strikes terror to other warm-blooded inhabitants of the deep. The Eskimos of the Alaskan coast of Bering Sea consider killers as actual wolves in sea form. They believe that in the early days, when the world was young and men and animals could change their form at will, land wolves often went to the edge of the shore ice and changed to killer whales and the killers returned to the edge of the ice and came out as wolves, to go ravening over the land. Some of the natives assure me that even today certain wolves and killers are still endowed with this power and, on account of their malignant character, are much feared by hunters.

Killers are known to swallow small seals and porpoises entire and attack large whales by tearing away their fleshy lips and tongues. When attacking large prey they work in packs, with all the unity and fierceness of so many wolves.—National Geographic Magazine.

POLITICAL SUPREMECY BY WOMEN

(Special to The Herald.)

Washington, Jan. [illegible].—The granting of suffrage to women in the southern states will clinch the political supremacy of the white race. This is the special argument which southern women will advance in the legislatures of the twelve southern states in which bills for presidential suffrage, modelled after the Illinois equal suffrage statues, will be introduced this winter.

In four southern states, Virginia, Kentucky, Tennessee and Texas, the number of white women exceeds the whole negro population. In six stats, Alabama, Arkansas, North Carolina, Louisiana, and Georgia, woman suffrage would tremendously increase the preponderance of white votes; in Mississippi and South Carolina, where the negro population exceeds the white, equal suffrage would double the intelligent electorate.

These are the claims made by the National American Woman Suffrage Association in behalf of suffrage for women.

Not only would suffrage give white control in these states a more permanent footing now, but, it is pointed out by southern women, that white supremacy will grow with the years because the increase of white population is more rapid than the increase of negro population. The official estimates for population in 1916, published by the census bureau, show that white population in twelve southern states has increased 10.8 per cent in the last seven years, while the negro population has increased only 5.6 per cent.

Walter E. Clark, chief justice of the supreme court of North Carolina, has endorsed equal suffrage in the south as an essential to white supremacy. Thoroughly familiar with conditions in the south, he advocates equal suffrage on precisely the same grounds that the bill for presidential suffrage will be urged.

"It can be confidently relied upon that the more intelligent people will vote and that the less intelligent will not," said Senator Robert L. Owen of Oklahoma today. "The assertion that the weak vicious woman will vote while the intelligent women will not is utterly fallacious. That was proved beyond doubt in the last election.

"Equal suffrage in the south will strengthen white supremacy, because the white women of the south are intelligent and educated and can be depended upon properly to exercise the right to vote if it is given to them.

"The south has been the backbone of democracy. It should not forget that the national democracy owes its last victory to the votes of the intelligent women of the west. That fact should count in the south."

Among the southern women who will be active in urging the passage of the several presidential suffrage bills are: Miss Mary Henderson, Chapel Hill, N. C.; Mrs. C. M. Platt, Asheville; Miss Pauline V. Orr, Columbus, Miss.; B. B. Valentine, Richmond; Mr. Pattie Ruffner Jacobs, of Alabama; Mr. John H. Lewis, Lynchburg; Mrs. C. H. Collier, Selma, Ala.; Mrs. Julian B. Parke, Selma, Ala.. and Mrs. A. B. Singletary, Baton Rogue, La.

Meager Savings of Chicago Street Car Man Went Into Realty.

Chicago.—Henry Torborg died here today, leaving a fortune of one-half million dollars, most of it accumulated during the last forty years while conductor on a street car of the Blue Island Avenue line. He was 73 years old and died while at work.

Torborg came to Chicago a young man and invested his savings in real estate. He got a job with the street car company, continued to save and to invest in outlying property. The growth of the city to a population of two and one-half million tells the story of the growth of his fortune. Two sons inherit the fortune. Torborg had a number of sayings:

"Good spenders may be good fellows, but a bank account needs no friends."

"Never pay for having work done that you can do yourself."

"Make your vacations pile up your dividends."

"The man who stops work is like the old mill out of use; he falls to pieces."

FEEDING HOGS ON PEANUTS

Firm Flesh and Good Profits From The Use of This Especial Forage

(Special to The Herald.)

Washington, Jan. 10.—The peanut, sometimes called "goober," is beginning to play an important part in the feeding of hogs in the southern states. Experiments conducted under supervision of the agents of the department of agriculture throughout the south, at the North Carolina Agricultural College, the Texas Agricultural College, and the Texas Experiment station have demonstrated that the peanuts can eb raised at a very low cost and will fatten hogs very quickly.

"It is very unlikely that the southern farmers will find a more profitable method of disposing of peanuts than by feeding them to hogs and finishing the hogs on other feeds to harden the flesh," says a bulletin on the subject issued by the department of agriculture.

The underground nuts are usually harvested by turning hogs into the field when the nuts are ripe, allowing them to do the harvesting.

Meat packers have questioned the quality of the meat from peanut-fed hogs. Examination of the flesh of hogs fed exclusively on peanuts and succulent feed shows that it is not quite so firm in texture as corn-fed pork, and the shrinkage is somewhat greater. It is therefore advisable for the farmer to use some feeds which have a tendency to harden the flesh before slaughtering time. Corn is so high just now it is not considered economical for that purpose.

In some of the southern states farmers have turned their attention to the use of sweet potatoes, velvet beans, and cowpeas for this purpose.

In order to determine accurately the feeding of peanuts for hogs, the Texas Experiment station conducted a test in 1908 in which six pigs averaging 43 pounds at the start were fed exclusively on Spanish peanuts for 91 days, the nuts being separated from the vines in order to ascertain definitely the quantity fed. The results of this test show that the quantity of peanuts required per 100 pounds of gain in live weight was only 296 1-2 pounds. This remarkable good showing is emphasized further when we consider that the average results of tests at nine different stations in the United States show that 537 pounds of shelled corn were required to produce 100 pounds of gain, and that in no instance was less than 479 pounds required.

According to the foregoing figures, an acre of Spanish peanuts of a yield of 40 bushels, allowing 30 pounds to the bushel, would produce approximately 405 pounds of pork which, if valued at 7 cents a pound, would amount to $28.35.

Many of the oil mills throughout the south have been equipped to crush peanuts so it is now possible to buy peanut meal and cake.

There has been a widespread demand to know if the meat of hogs fattened on peanut cake or meal, would be firm, hard, and free from the objections that are made to meat produced by feeding the whole peanut. To answer this question intelligently the authorities at North Carolina Agricultural College conducted experiments and obtained very interesting results.

Prof Dan T. Gray, of the North Carolina College states that hogs fattened on peanuts meal made satisfactory gains and that their meat was not soft. Hogs fattened on peanut meal will be acecpted by the packer as hard flesh, whereas, from hogs fattened on peanuts the packer will deduct 1 1-2 cents per pound on account of soft flesh. In some places mills are offering peanut meal for peanuts, pound for pound. The farmers can well afford to make this exchange for the meal will add 1 1-2 cents a pound to the value of the pork, less the cost of harvesting the peanuts, as compared with the peanuts fed whole.

THE TOAD FINDS A FRIEND

The Island of Guam Wants Him as a Snail Destroyer.

The government of Guam a few days ago asked the navy department to send ten toads, and the navy department, having not so much as a tadpole, passed the request on to the department of agriculture.

This is perhaps the first official invitation ever extended to the bufonidae and would indicate that the family is climbing up. It suffered for centuries under Shakespeare's censure "ugly and venomous," a slander which, it appears, he did not take the trouble to investigate, but accepted on the word of one Dr. Lupton.

The toad is invited with its whole family and all of its belongings to settle down upon this little Pacific island. It is expected to engage in agriculture, its special mission being to eat the snails that are causing na epidemic among the cattle. The bigger the appetite of the toad the better, a qualification exactly the opposite asked of the ordinary farmhand.

But several years ago American agriculturists discovered the value of the toad and began protecting it. Every garden now has its master toad and group of assistants just as it has rose bushes and other flowering plants. The supply is scarcely equal to the demand, for while the grown toad has only one enemy, the snake, the eggs are destroyed by all kings of creatures, newts, turtles, birds and fish. Each toad is thus the survivor of a regiment of tadpoles.

It is feared that, as much as the department of agriculture would like to help Guam, it will be unable to do so in this particular. This country needs its toads.—New York Sun.

GIANT WOLVES OF THE SEA

Ruthless Killer Whales Swim in Ranks Like Well-Trained Soldiers.

The killer whale usually travels and hunts in "schools" or packs of from three to a dozen or more individuals. Unlike most whales, the members of these schools do not travel in a straggling party, but swim side by side, their movements as regularly timed as those of soldiers. A regularly spaced row of advancing long black fins swiftly cutting the undulaitng surface of the sea produces a singularly sinister effect. The evil impression is well justified, since killers are the most savage and remorseless of whales. The jaws are armed with rows of effective teeth, with which the animals attack and devour seals and porpoises and even destroy some of the larger whales..

Killers are like giant wolves of the sea, and their ferocity strikes terror to other warm-blooded inhabitants of the deep. The Eskimos of the Alaskan coast of Bering Sea consider killers as actual wolves in sea form. They believe that in the early days, when the world was young and men and animals could change their form at will, land wolves often went to the edge of the shore ice and changed to killer whales and the killers returned to the edge of the ice and came out as wolves, to go ravening over the land. Some of the natives assure me that even today certain wolves and killers are still endowed with this power and, on account of their malignant character, are much feared by hunters.

Killers are known to swallow small seals and porpoises entire and attack large whales by tearing away their fleshy lips and tongues. When attacking large prey they work in packs, with all the unity and fierceness of so many wolves.—National Geographic Magazine.

CALOMEL SALIVATES AND MAKES YOU SICK

Acts like dynamite on a sluggish liver and you lose a day's work.

There's no reason why a person should take sickening, salivating calomel when 50 cents buys a large bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone—a perfect substitute for calomel.

It is a pleasant, vegetable liquid which will start your liver just as surely as calomel, but it doesn't make you sick and can not salivate.

Children and grown folks can take Dodson's Liver Tone, because it is perfectly harmless.

Calomel is a dangerous drug. It is mercury and attacks your bones. Take a dose of nasty calomel today and you will feel weak, sick and nauseated tomorrow. Don't lose a day's work. Take a spoonful of Dodson's Liver Tone instead and you will wake up feeling great. No more biliousness, constipation, sluggishness, headache, coated tongue or sour stomach. Your druggist says if you don't find Dodson's Liver Tone acts better than horrible calomel your money is waiting for you.

ONE HUNDRED AUTOMOBILES EVERY DAY

Travel Toward Florida Over the Great Dixie Highway

Chattanooga, Tenn., Jan. 10.—An estimate of 100 foreign tourist automobiles a day traveling up and down the Dixie Highway when it is open for travel is considered entirely too conservative in the light of reports of travel over sections of the highway during the month of December, and inquiries received by the Dixie Highway Association from tourists desiring to reach Florida and Southern Georgia.

John E. Gilbert, of Jacksonville, chairman of the Duval County Dixie Highway Council, has advised the association the number of cars entering Jacksonville during December exceeded one hundred per day.

This does not take into consideration the number of cars bound for west coast and central Florida points which entered Florida through Tallahassee, Monticello, Live Oak and Lake City. Every section of the highway in Florida states that the number of foreign cars in their vicinity at this time which is in advance of their regular season is many times greater than that of any previous year.

The tourists who are pouring into Florida this winter over the Dixie Highway and other routes leading from the north, are doing so over roads which are not completed thoroughfares and in spite of the candid statements which have been sent out by the Dixie Highway Association, by letter and through the leading newspapers and automobile publications, stating that the Dixie Highway which represents the nearest completed road to Florida is not ready for all year round travel.

When the Dixie Highway Association is in a position to announce to the tourists that they can travel the highway from one terminus to another, as the association expects to be able to do before 1917 is brought to a close, the amount of travel which may reasonably be expected, will unquestionably exceed the most optimistic expectations at the present time.

The various communities along the Dixie Highway are appreciating the returns in store for them by providing the road and they are hard at work doing their part. A majority of the counties on the eastern and western divisions have been successful in persuading their state highway departments to give them federal and state aid. The most notable gaps which are being closed up and which will without question be open for travel by fall of 1917 are along the eastern division of the highway between Cincinnati and Knoxville, on the western division between Nashville and Chattanooga, Tenn., on the central division between Waycross and Jacksonville, on the western division between Tallahassee and Gainesville, on the connecting link between Tallahassee and Jacksonville and on the eastern division between Jacksonville and Miami.

The Dixie Highway Association is keeping actively behind the work on these divisions and is receiving the loyal co-operation of the citizens of the several counties and states.

WOULD MAKE WYOMING DRY

Strenuous Campaign Before the State Legislature For Prohibition

Cheyenne, Wyo., Jan. 10.—A strenuous battle to make Wyoming dry is forecast for the state legislature which convened today.

The significance of Wyoming's decision is that this state, as long as it remains wet, supplies the operating base for mail order sales of liquor into seven dry states surrounding it.

Of the overwhelming sentiment in Wyoming for prohibition, there appears to be little question. Neither is there a great deal of doubt as to whether the legislature will vote Wyoming dry by statute.

There appears to be at least a good chance for the submission of a constitutional amendment for prohibition, and the fight to block or delay it, according to indications, will be made in the state senate. The liquor trade Wyoming stands to gain as a lone dry state is estimated at $25,000,000 annually.

Wyoming has been made by developments in neighboring states the scene of liquor's last stand in the northern and central Rocky Mountain region. With a population of only 175,000 and a liquor consumption correspondingly small, the state has assumed an importance to the liquor industry utterly disproportionate to its population.

More than a year ago Colorado and Idaho, bordering states, were voted dry. At the election last November South Dakota, Montana and Nebraska, other bordering states, were voted dry, and Utah, the only other bordering state, elected a legislature pledged to prohibition by statutory enactment. Therefore it is of tremendous importance to the liquor interests that Wyoming shall continue wet.

It is estimated that 75 per cent of the Wyoming electorate would vote for the prohibition amendment were it submitted. Approximately 20,000 of the 49,400 electors who voted in November are women. The prohibition amendment would have the virtually undivided support of this body of voting women. Merely a majority of the votes cast would be necessary to write it into the constitution, which means that if only twenty per cent of the male voting population voted for it it would be adopted.

It is thought that the contest over the measure would be staged in the senate because that body contains but twenty-seven members and a two-thirds majority is necessary to pass a constitutional amendment. The men therefore could defeat the amendment.

The lower house contains fifty-seven members. Before the last election at which seventy-one of the thirty-four members of the new legislature were named, the Wyoming anti-saloon league claimed to have obtained from two-thirds of all the candidates for the legislature a pledge that they would vote for the submission of a statewide constitutional amendment.

The thirteen members of the legislature not accounted for in this claim are the senators who hold over from the last legislature.

The W. C. T. U., the anti-saloon league and other prohibition and temperance organizations appear confident that the submission bill will be passed without difficulty.

For more than a month these organizations have conducted rallies in all parts of the state, while in Cheyenne a big demonstration is being planned as a reminder to the legislators who pledged themselves to support the bill, that they are to be held to close accountability.

STOP DANDRUFF! HAIR GETS THICK, WAVY, BEAUTIFUL

Girls! Draw a cloth through your hair and double its beauty.

Spend 25 cents! Dandruff vanishes and hair stops coming out.

To be possessed of a head of heavy, beautiful hair; soft, lustrous, fluffy, wavy and free from dandruff is merely a matter of using a little Danderine.

It is easy and inexpensive to have nice, soft hair and lots of it. Just get a 25-cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine now—all drug stores recommend it—apply a little as directed and within ten minutes there will be an appearance of abundance, freshness, fluffiness and an incomparable gloss and lustre, and try as you will you can not find a trace of dandruff or falling hair; but your real surprise will be after about two weeks' use, when you will see new hair—fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair—sprouting out all over your scalp—Danderine is, we believe, the only sure hair grower, destroyer of dandruff and cure for itchy scalp and it never fails to stop falling hair at once.

If you want to prove how pretty and soft your hair really is, moisten a cloth with a little Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair—taking one small strand at a time. Your hair will be soft, glossy and beautiful in just a few moments—a delightful surprise awaits everyone who tries this.

P. AND O. ON WEST COAST.

The P. & O. steamer Mascot will touch at St. Petersburg once each week, to take tourists to Cuba, stopping here each Tuesday at noon. On the return trip the boat will land passengers each Friday. The Mascot will make the run between St. Petersburg and Havana until the City of Miami is off the ways. She is now being given a thorough overhauling and will be on her run in about two or three weeks. The City of Miami will touch here. The Olivette will make her runs from Port Tampa, not touching here. The service by the P. & O. steamers this winter is to be much better in every way than it was last winter.

AN UNDERGROUND WIRELESS

California Inventor Sends Sound 40 Miles Through Earth.

Fresno, Cal.—The same electric power employed in the ringing of a doorbell has transmitted sound through space a distance of 40 miles. In an experiment conducted by Dr. H. Barringer Cox, the ringing of an ordinary alarm clock at Los Olivos has been faintly recorded at his station just outside Santa Barbara, Cal.

According to Dr. Cox, the instruments were not "pointing" right, and after certain corrections have been made at Los Olivos the experiments will be renewed. But the results are highly satisfactory.

CALOMEL SALIVATES AND MAKES YOU SICK

Acts like dynamite on a sluggish liver and you lose a day's work.

There's no reason why a person should take sickening, salivating calomel when 50 cents buys a large bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone—a perfect substitute for calomel.

It is a pleasant, vegetable liquid which will start your liver just as surely as calomel, but it doesn't make you sick and can not salivate.

Children and grown folks can take Dodson's Liver Tone, because it is perfectly harmless.

Calomel is a dangerous drug. It is mercury and attacks your bones. Take a dose of nasty calomel today and you will feel weak, sick and nauseated tomorrow. Don't lose a day's work. Take a spoonful of Dodson's Liver Tone instead and you will wake up feeling great. No more biliousness, constipation, sluggishness, headache, coated tongue or sour stomach. Your druggist says if you don't find Dodson's Liver Tone acts better than horrible calomel your money is waiting for you.

ONE HUNDRED AUTOMOBILES EVERY DAY

Travel Toward Florida Over the Great Dixie Highway

Chattanooga, Tenn., Jan. 10.—An estimate of 100 foreign tourist automobiles a day traveling up and down the Dixie Highway when it is open for travel is considered entirely too conservative in the light of reports of travel over sections of the highway during the month of December, and inquiries received by the Dixie Highway Association from tourists desiring to reach Florida and Southern Georgia.

John E. Gilbert, of Jacksonville, chairman of the Duval County Dixie Highway Council, has advised the association the number of cars entering Jacksonville during December exceeded one hundred per day.

This does not take into consideration the number of cars bound for west coast and central Florida points which entered Florida through Tallahassee, Monticello, Live Oak and Lake City. Every section of the highway in Florida states that the number of foreign cars in their vicinity at this time which is in advance of their regular season is many times greater than that of any previous year.

The tourists who are pouring into Florida this winter over the Dixie Highway and other routes leading from the north, are doing so over roads which are not completed thoroughfares and in spite of the candid statements which have been sent out by the Dixie Highway Association, by letter and through the leading newspapers and automobile publications, stating that the Dixie Highway which represents the nearest completed road to Florida is not ready for all year round travel.

When the Dixie Highway Association is in a position to announce to the tourists that they can travel the highway from one terminus to another, as the association expects to be able to do before 1917 is brought to a close, the amount of travel which may reasonably be expected, will unquestionably exceed the most optimistic expectations at the present time.

The various communities along the Dixie Highway are appreciating the returns in store for them by providing the road and they are hard at work doing their part. A majority of the counties on the eastern and western divisions have been successful in persuading their state highway departments to give them federal and state aid. The most notable gaps which are being closed up and which will without question be open for travel by fall of 1917 are along the eastern division of the highway between Cincinnati and Knoxville, on the western division between Nashville and Chattanooga, Tenn., on the central division between Waycross and Jacksonville, on the western division between Tallahassee and Gainesville, on the connecting link between Tallahassee and Jacksonville and on the eastern division between Jacksonville and Miami.

The Dixie Highway Association is keeping actively behind the work on these divisions and is receiving the loyal co-operation of the citizens of the several counties and states.

WOULD MAKE WYOMING DRY

Strenuous Campaign Before the State Legislature For Prohibition

Cheyenne, Wyo., Jan. 10.—A strenuous battle to make Wyoming dry is forecast for the state legislature which convened today.

The significance of Wyoming's decision is that this state, as long as it remains wet, supplies the operating base for mail order sales of liquor into seven dry states surrounding it.

Of the overwhelming sentiment in Wyoming for prohibition, there appears to be little question. Neither is there a great deal of doubt as to whether the legislature will vote Wyoming dry by statute.

There appears to be at least a good chance for the submission of a constitutional amendment for prohibition, and the fight to block or delay it, according to indications, will be made in the state senate. The liquor trade Wyoming stands to gain as a lone dry state is estimated at $25,000,000 annually.

Wyoming has been made by developments in neighboring states the scene of liquor's last stand in the northern and central Rocky Mountain region. With a population of only 175,000 and a liquor consumption correspondingly small, the state has assumed an importance to the liquor industry utterly disproportionate to its population.

More than a year ago Colorado and Idaho, bordering states, were voted dry. At the election last November South Dakota, Montana and Nebraska, other bordering states, were voted dry, and Utah, the only other bordering state, elected a legislature pledged to prohibition by statutory enactment. Therefore it is of tremendous importance to the liquor interests that Wyoming shall continue wet.

It is estimated that 75 per cent of the Wyoming electorate would vote for the prohibition amendment were it submitted. Approximately 20,000 of the 49,400 electors who voted in November are women. The prohibition amendment would have the virtually undivided support of this body of voting women. Merely a majority of the votes cast would be necessary to write it into the constitution, which means that if only twenty per cent of the male voting population voted for it it would be adopted.

It is thought that the contest over the measure would be staged in the senate because that body contains but twenty-seven members and a two-thirds majority is necessary to pass a constitutional amendment. The men therefore could defeat the amendment.

The lower house contains fifty-seven members. Before the last election at which seventy-one of the thirty-four members of the new legislature were named, the Wyoming anti-saloon league claimed to have obtained from two-thirds of all the candidates for the legislature a pledge that they would vote for the submission of a statewide constitutional amendment.

The thirteen members of the legislature not accounted for in this claim are the senators who hold over from the last legislature.

The W. C. T. U., the anti-saloon league and other prohibition and temperance organizations appear confident that the submission bill will be passed without difficulty.

For more than a month these organizations have conducted rallies in all parts of the state, while in Cheyenne a big demonstration is being planned as a reminder to the legislators who pledged themselves to support the bill, that they are to be held to close accountability.

P. AND O. ON WEST COAST.

The P. & O. steamer Mascot will touch at St. Petersburg once each week, to take tourists to Cuba, stopping here each Tuesday at noon. On the return trip the boat will land passengers each Friday. The Mascot will make the run between St. Petersburg and Havana until the City of Miami is off the ways. She is now being given a thorough overhauling and will be on her run in about two or three weeks. The City of Miami will touch here. The Olivette will make her runs from Port Tampa, not touching here. The service by the P. & O. steamers this winter is to be much better in every way than it was last winter.

STOP DANDRUFF! HAIR GETS THICK, WAVY, BEAUTIFUL

Girls! Draw a cloth through your hair and double its beauty.

Spend 25 cents! Dandruff vanishes and hair stops coming out.

To be possessed of a head of heavy, beautiful hair; soft, lustrous, fluffy, wavy and free from dandruff is merely a matter of using a little Danderine.

It is easy and inexpensive to have nice, soft hair and lots of it. Just get a 25-cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine now—all drug stores recommend it—apply a little as directed and within ten minutes there will be an appearance of abundance, freshness, fluffiness and an incomparable gloss and lustre, and try as you will you can not find a trace of dandruff or falling hair; but your real surprise will be after about two weeks' use, when you will see new hair—fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair—sprouting out all over your scalp—Danderine is, we believe, the only sure hair grower, destroyer of dandruff and cure for itchy scalp and it never fails to stop falling hair at once.

If you want to prove how pretty and soft your hair really is, moisten a cloth with a little Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair—taking one small strand at a time. Your hair will be soft, glossy and beautiful in just a few moments—a delightful surprise awaits everyone who tries this.

Paramount Today.

Frank McIntyre, who makes his motion picture debut at the Paramount today in the Famous Players adaption of his greatest stage success, "The Traveling Salesman," is one of the best known comedians in the country and is a distinct addition to the Paramount program. During his career before the footlights, McIntyre has appeared in every known form of theatrical entertainment, having been associated with Frank Keenan, Mrs. Fiske, Nat Goodwin, and Robert Edeson, in many varieties of comedy and drama. He then entered musical comedy, playing in "Oh! Oh! Delphine" for two seasons. He next appeared in "A Pair of Sixes" for forty-seven weeks and followed this up with a thirty-two week engagement in vaudeville in "The Hat Salesman."

Upon the completion of his work at the Famous Players studio in "The Traveling Salesman," Mr. McIntyre has been engaged by Klaw and Erlanger to head an all-star cast in "Miss Springtime."

EVERY YEAR LEAP YEAR.

Tampa Tribune: Nineteen-sixteen was leap year.

There won't be another leap year, the calendar says, till nineteen-twenty.

But the calendar lies.

Every year's a leap year these days. Every year sees woman's power and prestige and privilege grow.

The mere frivolous pretense that in leap year only can a woman ask a man to be her mate, is dead—defunct—decedent.

We reckon as many will do the asking in 1917 as in 1916, if they happen to feel the urge.

The leap year just past saw a woman elected to congress—but she'll take her seat this year, and then will her greatest service commence.

The leap year just past saw a woman fly nearly from Chicago to New York. But in the year coming, which is not a leap year, she says she'll cross the continent, through the air.

OUR HIGHWAY TO BE TALKED BY PRESIDENT

Judge Allison Soon to Be Guest of Atlanta Chamber of Commerce

The Atlanta Constitution states that Judge M. M. Allison, of Chattanooga, president of the Dixie Highway association, has accepted an invitation from the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce to speak at the annual dinner of the chamber, which will be held at the Piedmont hotel on the evening of Thursday, January 11.

"This dinner is already assured as the most notable and largest dinner that has been given by the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce in its history.," says the Constitution.

"Judge Allison was invited by the entertainment committee of the chamber, of which committee Colonel Fred J. Paxon is chairman. His speech will be a revelation of the work that has been done in the development of good roads in the south and in the development of the Dixie highway in particular.

Will Speak on Highway.

"Judge Allison will speak on 'What the Dixie Highway Stands For.' He will give a history of the wonderful work which in the last two years has developed the Dixie highway from a dream to a reality, showing the tremendous expenditure that has been made, the intense interest that has been created, the co-operation of every county traversed by the Dixie highway, from the Great Lakes to the Everglades, and the manner in which this great highway has bound the north and the south together and in making real neighbors of them.

"Judge Allison will show what the Dixie highway means to the south in general, and to Atlanta in particular.

"Judge Allison is one of the most prominent lawyers of Tennessee. Yet he has found time to devote himself with all but unbelievable success to the promotion of the Dixie highway for the last two years, serving without remuneration of any sort except the pleasure of service. He is, more than any other one man, responsible for the construction of this great highway—or rather, these two great highways—for there are two divisions of the Dixie highway, one starting at Detroit and the other at Chicago and maintaining their individuality all the way to Jacksonville.

Work for Good Roads.

"His work as a good roads evangelist has brought about the authorization and expenditure of millions of dollars for highway construction. Judge Allison has broken the barrier of the Cumberland mountains in two places, making passable for motorists what was before an insuperable obstacle for motorists going north or coming south.

There are now, through Judge Allison's work, two passes through the Cumberlands, one on the western division of the Dixie highway, between Nashville and Chattanooga, and the other on the eastern division, between Cincinnati and Knoxville. These gateways are already passable, and within a year it will be possible for motorists to cross the Cumberlands at these two points over splendid highways through the most magnificent scenery of the western hemisphere.

"Judge Allison has thought out the plans and schemes for the Dixie highway and has fought the battles of the Dixie highway. His speech upon this topic at the chamber dinner will be a story of most thrilling interest."

A FLORAL FAIRYLAND

Philadelphia Record.

If your journey is for flowers, however, push on to Palm Beach, or better yet, to Miami. Palm Beach is more gorgeous, corresponding in a way to Monte Carlo among its sister resorts, though Palm Beach has but two or three of the huge hotels for which it is famed.

The real trick is to have a villa fit for a potentate.

The gardens are superb.

But the posy lover, pure and simple, finds yet more delight in Miami, the thermometer there going a bit higher. Hedges of rosy oleanders delight and ubiquitous hibiscus is simply bursting with the most voluptuous color splendor. While they boast no flowers the croton hedges are kaleidoscopic displays of color.

Miami boasts wonderful wild flowers, too, the yellow thistle for one, its purple sister for another. Then there are wild morning glories.

And everywhere the great languorous, tropical palms, though to hear the winds of the ages whispering at their most mysterious through the palms one must go to the oasis at Memphis, where there are no distracting details.

Oh, the palms!

These palms are a never-ending source of delight, though one who expects the exquisite freshness of northern foliage in the spring will be disappointed. After the palms, the homeward-bound visitor who is stopping in Jacksonville in March will find the wild olive trees of greatest interest—such clusters of tiny, fragrant, white blossoms as they're loaded with!

True tree lovers usually decide to invade southern Florida late enough to see the gorgeously red royal poinciana in bloom. It is said to be eminently worth while.

EVERY YEAR LEAP YEAR.

Tampa Tribune: Nineteen-sixteen was leap year.

There won't be another leap year, the calendar says, till nineteen-twenty.

But the calendar lies.

Every year's a leap year these days. Every year sees woman's power and prestige and privilege grow.

The mere frivolous pretense that in leap year only can a woman ask a man to be her mate, is dead—defunct—decedent.

We reckon as many will do the asking in 1917 as in 1916, if they happen to feel the urge.

The leap year just past saw a woman elected to congress—but she'll take her seat this year, and then will her greatest service commence.

The leap year just past saw a woman fly nearly from Chicago to New York. But in the year coming, which is not a leap year, she says she'll cross the continent, through the air.

The calendar still observes leap year. But the sex doesn't.

The tour is to include brief engagements in Philadelphia, Boston, Providence, Pittsburgh, Cleveland, Detroit, Chicago, Cincinnati, St. Paul and a number of other of the principal cities of the country.

OUR HIGHWAY TO BE TALKED BY PRESIDENT

Judge Allison Soon to Be Guest of Atlanta Chamber of Commerce

The Atlanta Constitution states that Judge M. M. Allison, of Chattanooga, president of the Dixie Highway association, has accepted an invitation from the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce to speak at the annual dinner of the chamber, which will be held at the Piedmont hotel on the evening of Thursday, January 11.

"This dinner is already assured as the most notable and largest dinner that has been given by the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce in its history.," says the Constitution.

"Judge Allison was invited by the entertainment committee of the chamber, of which committee Colonel Fred J. Paxon is chairman. His speech will be a revelation of the work that has been done in the development of good roads in the south and in the development of the Dixie highway in particular.

Will Speak on Highway.

"Judge Allison will speak on 'What the Dixie Highway Stands For.' He will give a history of the wonderful work which in the last two years has developed the Dixie highway from a dream to a reality, showing the tremendous expenditure that has been made, the intense interest that has been created, the co-operation of every county traversed by the Dixie highway, from the Great Lakes to the Everglades, and the manner in which this great highway has bound the north and the south together and in making real neighbors of them.

"Judge Allison will show what the Dixie highway means to the south in general, and to Atlanta in particular.

"Judge Allison is one of the most prominent lawyers of Tennessee. Yet he has found time to devote himself with all but unbelievable success to the promotion of the Dixie highway for the last two years, serving without remuneration of any sort except the pleasure of service. He is, more than any other one man, responsible for the construction of this great highway—or rather, these two great highways—for there are two divisions of the Dixie highway, one starting at Detroit and the other at Chicago and maintaining their individuality all the way to Jacksonville.

Work for Good Roads.

"His work as a good roads evangelist has brought about the authorization and expenditure of millions of dollars for highway construction. Judge Allison has broken the barrier of the Cumberland mountains in two places, making passable for motorists what was before an insuperable obstacle for motorists going north or coming south.

There are now, through Judge Allison's work, two passes through the Cumberlands, one on the western division of the Dixie highway, between Nashville and Chattanooga, and the other on the eastern division, between Cincinnati and Knoxville. These gateways are already passable, and within a year it will be possible for motorists to cross the Cumberlands at these two points over splendid highways through the most magnificent scenery of the western hemisphere.

"Judge Allison has thought out the plans and schemes for the Dixie highway and has fought the battles of the Dixie highway. His speech upon this topic at the chamber dinner will be a story of most thrilling interest."

A FLORAL FAIRYLAND

Philadelphia Record.

If your journey is for flowers, however, push on to Palm Beach, or better yet, to Miami. Palm Beach is more gorgeous, corresponding in a way to Monte Carlo among its sister resorts, though Palm Beach has but two or three of the huge hotels for which it is famed.

The real trick is to have a villa fit for a potentate.

The gardens are superb.

But the posy lover, pure and simple, finds yet more delight in Miami, the thermometer there going a bit higher. Hedges of rosy oleanders delight and ubiquitous hibiscus is simply bursting with the most voluptuous color splendor. While they boast no flowers the croton hedges are kaleidoscopic displays of color.

Miami boasts wonderful wild flowers, too, the yellow thistle for one, its purple sister for another. Then there are wild morning glories.

And everywhere the great languorous, tropical palms, though to hear the winds of the ages whispering at their most mysterious through the palms one must go to the oasis at Memphis, where there are no distracting details.

Oh, the palms!

These palms are a never-ending source of delight, though one who expects the exquisite freshness of northern foliage in the spring will be disappointed. After the palms, the homeward-bound visitor who is stopping in Jacksonville in March will find the wild olive trees of greatest interest—such clusters of tiny, fragrant, white blossoms as they're loaded with!

True tree lovers usually decide to invade southern Florida late enough to see the gorgeously red royal poinciana in bloom. It is said to be eminently worth while.

Bulletin State Board of Health.

Florida's progress in health matters in 1916 was in keeping with its industrial advance, and the facts that remain to be tabulated and studied, indicate that the good old Peninsular State has just completed a twelvemonth period unequaled in substantial growth in population and lasting wealth.

Reviewing health conditions, to be handled in the forthcoming annual report of the State Board of Health, it appears that only the serious prevalence of infantile paralysis in New York and other northern centers threatened the uniformity of good health in this state. Extraordinary precautions were taken by the State Board, in co-operation with municipal and national authorities, to prevent infection entering from these remote sources. And it appears that these efforts were rewarded with complete success. Ten cases of disease were reported from various sections of Florida, but there is not the slightest evidence that a single case was traceable to the northern centers. Indeed, the number was not above the annual average of occurrence in the state, and as is well known, in the majority of cases, the origin is difficult if not impossible to trace.

The year saw the so-called system of district nursing more than doubled. The six white nurses, or district instructors in health matters, were doubled in number and the six districts were increased to twelve, and in addition, a colored nurse was appointed for work among her own race in the congested centers of population. Heretofore these women have worked particularly among tuberculosis patients, instructing the uninformed how best to care for these cases and to prevent the spread of the infection. It was discovered, soon after the establishment of this system throughout the state, that these teachers of the people were consulted about almost every ill that human flesh is heir to, and about some that it isn't, and with the increase in the number of districts and nurses, their duties were extended to include the greater variety of demands made upon them. That this plan of public instruction in matters of health is working a remarkable total of good has been established beyond the possibility of doubt.

These busy instructors carry on their work under the immediate direction of an assistant health officer. He has automatically become the first, because he is the office assistant and another assistant has been appointed during the year just ended, who is responsible for the operation of the state health train, and who accompanies it on its travels up and down and across the state. This splendid institution for the practical education of the people of Florida, which places Florida at the head of the list of states in educational facilities, was first put into operation early in 1916. It has had the heartiest support of the intelligent press of Florida and the co-operation of all the railroads of the state over which the three Pullmans have been hauled thousands of miles without a cent of expense to the taxpayers.

The aggregate of good that has been accomplished by and through this wonderfully complete equipment is beyond the possibility of estimate. At every station on nearly every railroad in the state the train has been parked, and the interested visitors have often numbered almost the entire population of the community.

The train has made one journey into a neighboring state where its completeness and educational value have held the serious attention of the medical profession. It is a safe assertion that it is the most efficient school on wheels in the world for instruction in health matters. It goes to the people who hereby are relieved of the necessity of traveling long distances to enjoy the advantages it offers.

To the practical equipment of the state board, the bureau of santitary engineering has been added duringthe year just closed. This department, whose function is indicated by its title, is maintained under the direction of a practical sanitary expert, a graduate of the Massachusetts nstitute of Technology, who came with the highest recommendations of the authorities of that institution, and who has made good. Although this branch of the work in connection with the activities of the state board of health, has had an existence of only a few months, it has proved to be of great utility to the authorities of various municipalities in the state, in advising, free of charge, on problems of water supply and sewage disposal.

In gathering vital statistics about Florida's citizenry, remarkable progress was made during 1916, and with the beginning of the new year the recording of all deaths in the state, the causes of death, age of the decedent and other needed information, as well as listing all births, seem much nearer accomplishment than ever before. Never before has there been available the accurate recording of facts regarding births and deaths in the state, upon which to base even approximately accurate estimates of the birth and death rates. The advance made in 1916 in this work and the present activity and interest aroused by the state board, promise that Florida may qualify within two or three years for admission to the Registration Area of the Federal Census Bureau.

The work accompanied in school inspection, as required by a recent state legislature, has fully demonstrated the urgent necessity for this line of investigation. Although the legislature demanded, by its enactments, the performance of this work, it utterly failed to provide the necessary funds for the performance. But in spite of this shortsightedness, the state board has extended this inspection of the pupils of public and private schools into 24 of the 52 counties of the state, and even in these sections inadequate funds have made the inspection far from complete.

But the discoveries have been startling. Of the 200,000 pupils enrolled in the schools of the state, 34,200 were examined by authoritatively appointed inspectors, and of this total, 57.4 per cent—many more than one-half—were found to be physical defectives. There is little question that if more thorough examinations had been made the proportion of deficients would have been shown to be nearer three-quarters than one-half. Among the causes of deficiency were adenoids, defective sight and hearing, enlarged tonsils, bad teeth, as well as more serious and less curable diseases.

Years of urgent effort by the bureau of veterinary science, of the State Board of Health, under the direction of the state veterinarian bore greater fruit last year than since the establishment of the bureau, particularly in the line of concerted and widespread effort toward the eradication of cattle tick from the state. To this departmen belongs the credit of originally advocating and urging this measure to increase the wealth of the state by developing one of its most promising resources. The growth of favoring public sentiment brought last year an advance toward practical results greater than ever before accomplished.

Large capital has been brought into use to push the work, and it seems likely that a source of wealth greater than any other that has ever enriched and made her great vacant acreage available and vastly productive, is about to be developed to its proper proportions. And the State Board of Health, through the officers at the head of this department, has been for years the prophet, the apostle of this coming greatness.

DENTAL TALKS

In these days of advanced science many innovations and devices have been introduced in dental surgery to safeguard the patient against pain, blood poison or contagion—so that today the modernly equipped dental office is no longer a "chamber of horrors," but a place where patients may be treated in the most painless, scientific and sanitary manner.

My new office is thoroughly equipped to serve you along these lines.

THE NEW SPORTING ANNUAL

The best little sporting reference book of the year is the "Police Gazette Sporting Annual" for 1917, published by the Richard K. Fox Publishing Company. It's a compendium of best performances in all branches of sports; ably compiled and edited by Sam C. Austin, the well-known sporting writer and critic. The athletic records are the records of the Amateur Athletic Union, and officially accepted by that organization; the rowing, yachting, racing, trotting, pacing automobile, hockey, football, skating and swimming records made all over the world, are officially correct. The baseball statistics were furnished by the National Baseball Commission, and include the details of the world's championship series.

The main feature of the book, however, is the pugilistic records, and includes the history of every boxer of prominence in the world. This splendid book is made doubly attractive by its high class illustrations and photos of the champions. It is authentic and reliable, and stands today an authority on the subject upon which it treats. The price is ten cents, postage two cents extra.

IRISH WIDOW ON DEATH OF HER HUSBAND

Pathetic Tale As Recited to a New York Audience Last Week

New York Herald: Mrs. Hannah Sheehy Skeffington, widow of Francis Sheehy Skeffington, the Irish pacifist, who was shot in prison by British soldiers after the Sinn Fein uprising in Dublin last year, last Saturday evening appeared, together with her seven-year-old son, Sheehy Skeffington, before a crowded house at Carnegie hall and told of the death of her husband.

The boy was clad in kilts. A flag of green, white and orange, the banner of the Irish republic, draped the speakers' stand. Irish airs cheered the audience before Mrs. Skeffington was introduced by Bainbridge Colby, who roused the audience to frenzied applause by his reference to Irish patriotism.

Mrs. Skeffington told of her bitterness for England and the sorrow which has driven her here. She said that when she applied for a passport the British officials tried to impose the condition that she would not speak, even to friends of the war. To this she replied, she said, that she would tell the truth.

"He was an anti-militarist," said Mrs. Skeffington. "A fighting pacifist. A man kindly even to his bitterest opponents, who always ranged himself on the side of the weak against the strong, whether the struggle was one of sex, class or race domination.

"His last reported words to his guards at Portobello were: 'I am in sympathy with the movement. That is, Sinn Fein, but against militarism. In accord with this creed I am prepared to die for a cause, but not to kill for it.'"

She then described Skeffington's arrest as he was returning to his home in Rathmines on the evening of April 25, 1916, saying:

"He was removed to Portobello barracks, was searched and when the adjutant informed headquarters of the arrest and asked for instructions, he was told to detain Skeffington, but to release the others, though no charges were made against him. He then specially asked that his wife should be notified. No message, however, was ever allowed to reach her, no notification of his death or burial, and every scrape of information regarding the murder had to be extracted bit by bit from the reluctant authorities. Why? Because they were the accomplices in the crime.

"That night, about midnight, Capt. Bowen Colthurst, Royal Irish Rifles, removed the prisoner and took him as a hostage on a raiding party outside the barracks, with his hands bound behind his back, giving direction that if there was any scrapping on his part Skeffington was to be killed. It was then that Sheery Ekeffington was a witness to two other murders of unarmed civilians by the raiding party.

"The Simon report of the royal commission states that the evidence of the different witnesses may only be reconciled by inferring that more than one case of shooting occurred during the progress of Captain Bowen Colthurst's party. It goes on. "None of the evidence offered to us afforded any justification for the shooting of Coade. It is of course a delusion to suppose that martial law confers upon an officer any right to take human life.

"Next morning shortly after 10 o'clock Sheehy Skeffington was taken from a locked cell by Captain Colthurst, and as he crossed the yard he was shot in the back by a fighting party. He was killed outright, and an officer noticing a movement in his body as he lay on the ground, exclaimed: 'This man is not dead.' He reported the matter to Captain Colthurst, who gave orders for a second fighting party to finish him up.

"Captain Colthursot belonged to an older planter family in Ireland, who was brought up to hatred of the native Irish. He was a Cromwellian type and his creed was—exterminate your enemy. This anti-Irish tradition still prevails in the British army, especially in exclusive Grange regiments. It is not madness, or, if so, we are ruled by lunatics. It may perhaps be called dementia britannica.

"In the hostage incident, and again after the murder, the authorities in Portobello at once communicated with headquarters in Dublin castle and asked for instructions. They received no instructions as to Captain Colthurst and were told to bury the bodies of the murdered men. Captain Colthurst was kept in command of the regiment several days after the murders. On Wednesday, the 26th, later in the day, he shot a boy in Camden street who had refused to give information about the Sinn Feiners. That same day he shot Councillor Richard O'Carroll, a Sinn Feiner, who had surrendered."

Mrs. Skeffington then dealt with the court martial held in June on Colthurst by which he was found insane, and severely criticised the character of its findings.

The death of the sixteen leaders had the effect of completely changing the feeling in Ireland, she said, which is at present in a state of grave discontent, threatening on the one side with famine and on the other with conscription, but the spirit in Ireland today is stronger than ever, and the people are fully determined that they will not allow themselves to be compelled to fight as England's conscripts.

"The lesson of the Irish revolt and its suppression," she said, "is that our small nation, Ireland, has a right to a place in the sun, and when the day of settlement comes—may it be soon—and the claims of other suppressed nations are considered, the voice of Ireland will not be stifled."

BAD COLD? TAKE "CASCARETS" FOR BOWELS TONIGHT

They're fine! Liven your liver and bowels and clear your head.

No headache, sour stomach, bad cold or constipation by morning.

Get a 10-cent box.

Colds—whether in the head or any part of the body—are quickly overcome by urging the liver to action and keeping the bowels free of poison. Take Cascarets tonight and you will wake up with a clear head and your cold will be gone. Cascarets work while you sleep; they cleanse and regulate the stomach, remove the sour, undigested food and foul gases; take the excess bile from the liver and carry off the constipated waste matter and poison from the bowels.

Remember the quickest way to get rid of colds is one or two Cascarets at night to cleanse the system. Get a 10-cent box at any drug store. Don't forget the children. They relish this Candy Cathartic and it is often all that is needed to drive a cold from their little systems.

But in spite of this shortsightedness, the state board has extended this inspection of the pupils of public and private schools into 24 of the 52 counties of the state, and even in these sections inadequate funds have made the inspection far from complete.

But the discoveries have been startling. Of the 200,000 pupils enrolled in the schools of the state, 34,200 were examined by authoritatively appointed inspectors, and of this total, 57.4 per cent—many more than one-half—were found to be physical defectives. There is little question that if more thorough examinations had been made the proportion of deficients would have been shown to be nearer three-quarters than one-half. Among the causes of deficiency were adenoids, defective sight and hearing, enlarged tonsils, bad teeth, as well as more serious and less curable diseases.

Years of urgent effort by the bureau of veterinary science, of the State Board of Health, under the direction of the state veterinarian bore greater fruit last year than since the establishment of the bureau, particularly in the line of concerted and widespread effort toward the eradication of cattle tick from the state. To this departmen belongs the credit of originally advocating and urging this measure to increase the wealth of the state by developing one of its most promising resources. The growth of favoring public sentiment brought last year an advance toward practical results greater than ever before accomplished.

Large capital has been brought into use to push the work, and it seems likely that a source of wealth greater than any other that has ever enriched and made her great vacant acreage available and vastly productive, is about to be developed to its proper proportions. And the State Board of Health, through the officers at the head of this department, has been for years the prophet, the apostle of this coming greatness.

DENTAL TALKS

In these days of advanced science many innovations and devices have been introduced in dental surgery to safeguard the patient against pain, blood poison or contagion—so that today the modernly equipped dental office is no longer a "chamber of horrors," but a place where patients may be treated in the most painless, scientific and sanitary manner.

My new office is thoroughly equipped to serve you along these lines.

THE NEW SPORTING ANNUAL

The best little sporting reference book of the year is the "Police Gazette Sporting Annual" for 1917, published by the Richard K. Fox Publishing Company. It's a compendium of best performances in all branches of sports; ably compiled and edited by Sam C. Austin, the well-known sporting writer and critic. The athletic records are the records of the Amateur Athletic Union, and officially accepted by that organization; the rowing, yachting, racing, trotting, pacing automobile, hockey, football, skating and swimming records made all over the world, are officially correct. The baseball statistics were furnished by the National Baseball Commission, and include the details of the world's championship series.

The main feature of the book, however, is the pugilistic records, and includes the history of every boxer of prominence in the world. This splendid book is made doubly attractive by its high class illustrations and photos of the champions. It is authentic and reliable, and stands today an authority on the subject upon which it treats. The price is ten cents, postage two cents extra.

Pathetic Tale As Recited to a New York Audience Last Week

New York Herald: Mrs. Hannah Sheehy Skeffington, widow of Francis Sheehy Skeffington, the Irish pacifist, who was shot in prison by British soldiers after the Sinn Fein uprising in Dublin last year, last Saturday evening appeared, together with her seven-year-old son, Sheehy Skeffington, before a crowded house at Carnegie hall and told of the death of her husband.

The boy was clad in kilts. A flag of green, white and orange, the banner of the Irish republic, draped the speakers' stand. Irish airs cheered the audience before Mrs. Skeffington was introduced by Bainbridge Colby, who roused the audience to frenzied applause by his reference to Irish patriotism.

Mrs. Skeffington told of her bitterness for England and the sorrow which has driven her here. She said that when she applied for a passport the British officials tried to impose the condition that she would not speak, even to friends of the war. To this she replied, she said, that she would tell the truth.

"He was an anti-militarist," said Mrs. Skeffington. "A fighting pacifist. A man kindly even to his bitterest opponents, who always ranged himself on the side of the weak against the strong, whether the struggle was one of sex, class or race domination.

"His last reported words to his guards at Portobello were: 'I am in sympathy with the movement. That is, Sinn Fein, but against militarism. In accord with this creed I am prepared to die for a cause, but not to kill for it.'"

She then described Skeffington's arrest as he was returning to his home in Rathmines on the evening of April 25, 1916, saying:

"He was removed to Portobello barracks, was searched and when the adjutant informed headquarters of the arrest and asked for instructions, he was told to detain Skeffington, but to release the others, though no charges were made against him. He then specially asked that his wife should be notified. No message, however, was ever allowed to reach her, no notification of his death or burial, and every scrape of information regarding the murder had to be extracted bit by bit from the reluctant authorities. Why? Because they were the accomplices in the crime.

"That night, about midnight, Capt. Bowen Colthurst, Royal Irish Rifles, removed the prisoner and took him as a hostage on a raiding party outside the barracks, with his hands bound behind his back, giving direction that if there was any scrapping on his part Skeffington was to be killed. It was then that Sheery Ekeffington was a witness to two other murders of unarmed civilians by the raiding party.

"The Simon report of the royal commission states that the evidence of the different witnesses may only be reconciled by inferring that more than one case of shooting occurred during the progress of Captain Bowen Colthurst's party. It goes on. "None of the evidence offered to us afforded any justification for the shooting of Coade. It is of course a delusion to suppose that martial law confers upon an officer any right to take human life.

"Next morning shortly after 10 o'clock Sheehy Skeffington was taken from a locked cell by Captain Colthurst, and as he crossed the yard he was shot in the back by a fighting party. He was killed outright, and an officer noticing a movement in his body as he lay on the ground, exclaimed: 'This man is not dead.' He reported the matter to Captain Colthurst, who gave orders for a second fighting party to finish him up.

"Captain Colthursot belonged to an older planter family in Ireland, who was brought up to hatred of the native Irish. He was a Cromwellian type and his creed was—exterminate your enemy. This anti-Irish tradition still prevails in the British army, especially in exclusive Grange regiments. It is not madness, or, if so, we are ruled by lunatics. It may perhaps be called dementia britannica.

"In the hostage incident, and again after the murder, the authorities in Portobello at once communicated with headquarters in Dublin castle and asked for instructions. They received no instructions as to Captain Colthurst and were told to bury the bodies of the murdered men. Captain Colthurst was kept in command of the regiment several days after the murders. On Wednesday, the 26th, later in the day, he shot a boy in Camden street who had refused to give information about the Sinn Feiners. That same day he shot Councillor Richard O'Carroll, a Sinn Feiner, who had surrendered."

Mrs. Skeffington then dealt with the court martial held in June on Colthurst by which he was found insane, and severely criticised the character of its findings.

The death of the sixteen leaders had the effect of completely changing the feeling in Ireland, she said, which is at present in a state of grave discontent, threatening on the one side with famine and on the other with conscription, but the spirit in Ireland today is stronger than ever, and the people are fully determined that they will not allow themselves to be compelled to fight as England's conscripts.

"The lesson of the Irish revolt and its suppression," she said, "is that our small nation, Ireland, has a right to a place in the sun, and when the day of settlement comes—may it be soon—and the claims of other suppressed nations are considered, the voice of Ireland will not be stifled."

FLOOD CONTROL PLAN SOUGHT

New Ulm, Minn., Jan. 10.—The Tri-State Flood Control association met here today with an attendance of representatives from nearly every city in the Red river and Minnesota valleys, in the Dakotas and Minnesota. It is expected the delegates will decide upon some plan of flood control to be presented to the legislature of the three states.

BAD COLD? TAKE "CASCARETS" FOR BOWELS TONIGHT

They're fine! Liven your liver and bowels and clear your head.

No headache, sour stomach, bad cold or constipation by morning.

Get a 10-cent box.

Colds—whether in the head or any part of the body—are quickly overcome by urging the liver to action and keeping the bowels free of poison. Take Cascarets tonight and you will wake up with a clear head and your cold will be gone. Cascarets work while you sleep; they cleanse and regulate the stomach, remove the sour, undigested food and foul gases; take the excess bile from the liver and carry off the constipated waste matter and poison from the bowels.

Remember the quickest way to get rid of colds is one or two Cascarets at night to cleanse the system. Get a 10-cent box at any drug store. Don't forget the children. They relish this Candy Cathartic and it is often all that is needed to drive a cold from their little systems.

WAR NURSE BECOMES A BRIDE

New York, Jan. 10.—Miss Helen Carson Job, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William C. Job of St. John's, Newfoundland, and Blundell Sands, England, and Charles Burch Schiff, son of Charles Schiff, former president of the Southern Pacific Railroad, were married today in the Cathedral of the Incarnation, at Garden City. The bride recently returned from England, where she was serving as nurse in Lady Roberts' hospital at Ascot.

A TIE ON JOINT BALLOT

Charleston, W. Va., Jan. 10.—Forty-five days of lively proceedings are forecasted for the West Virginia legislature, which convened today for its regular biennial session. The lower branch is of democratic complexion, while the state senate is republican. On joint ballot the legislature will be a tie. In addition to disposing of a large amount of routine business it is expected the lawmakers will make an attempt at final adjudication of the fifty-year-old Virginia debt controversy.
